BRITISH SANCTION FOR JAP ACTION IN NORTH DENIED

Chamberlain Says Siberian Issue Was Not Discussed With Prince

WEDGWOOD OUTSPOKEN

Refers To Vladivostok Coup As "Japan's Attack On F. Eastern Republic"

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—In the House of Commons today, Colonel Wedgwood asked whether "Japan's attack on the Far Eastern Republic" had been discussed during the Crown Prince of Japan's visit here, whether any communication had been received intimating such Japanese action in Siboria before the action occurred, and whether the British Government were in any way responsible for Japan's policy towards Russia.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain replied that the implication contained in the question was unfounded. There had been no discussions in that connection, and it was absolutely untrue that the British Government were in any way responsible for the recent happenings at Vladivostok.

Paris, June 16.—The well-known playwright, M. de Flers, has been installed a member of the Academy.

(Dalta News Agency)

Attention is called to our despatch from Peking today denying the Reuter statement that "Habarovsk was in flames" and so forth. Attention is also called to the fact that Reuters today denies as a "rumor" the fact that "Habarovsk was in flames." But it will be remembered that this bit of misinformation was not published as a rumor, but as news. Also that the bare fact of the city being in flames was not enough, it was embroidered with other and more terrifying reports.

DESPATCHES "WILD"

A good many of the Reuter despatches lately have been a bit wild, and while the local Dalta Agency feels called upon to point out to their airy lack of facts, there is a certain element of humor in the persistent way they publish what they hope will be true by the time it is published.

At times, however, their premises miss fire, as, for instance a despatch published by them today, saying that "according to advices from Nikolsk-Ussurisk persons arriving from Soviet Russia state that peasant uprisings are general there." Then the writer goes on to say that other cities are having various misfortunes. How does the Reuter service obtain this sort of news? At the nearest point from which these people could have arrived from Soviet Russia would have meant a journey of at least ten days, this would put the date of the uprisings and all the terrible things supposed to have been reported by the travelers as not later than June 5, while we are today in receipt of despatches from Moscow dated June 11, and needless to remark, these despatches fail entirely to say anything about the "reign of horror" that Reuters so plausibly told.

"TROUBLES ENOUGH"

Another thing, if these tales were true it would be manifestly impossible for our despatches to have come through to us since any of the concatenation of dreadful happenings reported from town to town would have been more than sufficient to have held them up. Poor Russia is having troubles enough that are quite true, don't let's have so many fictitious ones, please.

Harbin, June 11.—For some unknown reason a combat ensued between Mr. Dubrovin, a railroad employe, and a Japanese guard, whereupon Dubrovin was immediately arrested, and then and there sentenced to be shot, by a Japanese Court Martial. Owing to the timely interference of the management of the Chinese Eastern Railway the execution of the sentence was postponed. The district committee of railwaymen has appealed on behalf of Mr. Dubrovin, to the Representative of the Far Eastern Republic, Mr. Ozarnin who is taking measures to save the life of the employe.

Another telegram from Imanpo today states that the Japanese have arrested a sixteen-year-old telegraph operator named Melkunoff, accused of belonging to an anti-Japanese organisation.

General's Daughter Gives Wonderful Performance At Horse Show

A REMARKABLE photograph showing Harriet Mitchell, nine-year-old daughter of Brigadier-General Mitchell, taking a hurdle on "Home Again," her entry in the National Capital Horse Show, in Washington, where the little girl's wonderful riding received much applause. Little Miss Mitchell is considered the best of the child riders in the capital.

ANFUITE HAND SEEN IN LOOTING OF RIVER CITIES

Little Hsu And Followers Trying To Organise Three Provinces

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 17.—Reports which are pouring into Peking indicate that the Anfuites are endeavoring to unite Chekiang, Fukien and Shensi against the Government.

Secret police reports assert that "Little Hsu's" agents instigated the looting at Ichang, while General Hsu Shu-tseng himself visited Wuchang and brought about the mutiny there, after which, in company with General Wang I-tang and General Chang Ching-yao, he visited Hangchow and took an active part in the independence movement, Mr. Fan Shoo, another Anfuite, becoming General Lu Yung-hsiang's Chief of Staff.

Travelers to Hangchow are complaining of great inconvenience experienced on account of the recent declarations of Tuchün Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang. Every passenger on the Shanghai-Hangchow line, whether male or female, is thoroughly searched before being allowed to leave the Hangchow station.

An attempt is being made by Lu, it is reported, to oust the Civil Governor, Shen Chin-chien, who does not favor the action of the military governor but is helpless under the power of militarism.

The Cabinet has been informed that Little Hsu, Fan Chu and Chang Ching-yao, three Anfu leaders, are now in Hangchow to assist Lu.

Chi Shih-yuan, the Kiangsu Tuchün, has assured the Central Administration that he will not be lured to the plot of Lu, but will support the Central Government in case of armed conflict.

It is also reported that Pau Kwe-ching, former Tuchun of Kirin and another emissary—Wong Ching-yu, representing Tuchun Wong Chuan-yuan—are in Hangchow at present conferring with the Chekiang military chief.

A Peking telegram to the China Times states that the Central Government has received a report to the effect that a conference will be held at Nanking, with the idea of causing embarrassment to Lu. The Central government, according to the report, is informed that representatives from Hunan, Kiangse, Fokien, Hupeh and Kiangsu are at present in Hangchow conferring with Lu on the subject of the adoption of a federal system for the provinces. A Cabinet meeting lasting an hour and a half was held on Thursday to consider the situation, but no definite plan of action was arrived at. Peking rumors have it that Wu Pei-fu also has a representative in Chekiang at the present time, watching developments.

POLICE MOTOR IS FACTOR IN OPIUM CASE

$5,000 Worth Of Drug Found In Departmental Car

TWO CHAUFFEURS HELD

Think Incident May Lead To Discovery Of Widespread Activity

One of the Shanghai Municipal Police Department's motor cars figures in a $5,000 opium-running case which came under the department's notice early yesterday morning, and two Municipal chauffeurs also play a part as suspects.

The matter came to the attention of the Yangtszepoo division of the force at about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The car, used ordinarily by one of the high officials of the department, was standing on Yangtszepoo Road near the old "Oil Mill" jetty when a constable noticed a man proceeding toward it with a number of tins in his arms. The tins looked suspicious so the constable followed. The bearer placed his burden in the car, then, observing the constable, fled, together with another man. The constable seized the tins, which were six in number—each containing four pounds of opium.

Later in the day the chauffeur of the car in question gave himself up to the police and offered to stand trial. Another Municipal chauffeur is also in custody and both will be brought before the Mixed Court today.

The motor car is the one machine which is parked outside the station compound at night, and hence would be the one car belonging to the department which might be taken out without observation of the gatemen. It is thought that investigation of the case may bring to light the fact that this police car, which has certain preferences and privileges on the highways, may have figured in an extensive campaign of opium running.

It is understood that the police official who ordinarily uses the car is convinced of his chauffeur's innocence and some interesting developments are expected when the case gets under way.

Indian Officials May Get Increase

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—In the House of Commons today Colonel Sir Charles Yate (Unionist) asked what arrangements had been made to meet the financial difficulties of Indian Government officials who are studying Japanese in Japan, owing to the inadequacy of their salaries in view of the present rate of exchange.

The Secretary of State for India, Mr. Montagu, replied that he was at present discussing with the War Office and the Admiralty the subject of granting further concessions than those sanctioned last December.

Commons Refuses To Cut Tea Duty

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—In the course of a discussion of the Finance Bill in the House of Commons this afternoon an amendment to prevent the re-imposition of Imperial preferential rates on certain articles was rejected by 174 votes to 69. A labor motion to reduce the tea duty was also rejected by 199 votes to 69. Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, pointed out that the abolition of the tea duty would only mean a reduction of four points in the index of the cost of living and would involve a loss of £16,000,000, which the Government could not afford.

Sikh Trooper Shot By Chinese, May Die

A Sikh trooper attached to Louza police station was shot and probably fatally wounded shortly before midnight last night by a Chinese near the corner of Thibet and Kiukiang Roads.

Particulars of the tragedy had not been secured at a late hour, but it is thought that the trooper was trying to stop a fight when one of the Chinese involved drew a pistol and fired, the bullet striking the policeman just below the heart.

The wounded man was removed to hospital, where it was said that his condition is critical. No arrests were made after the shooting but the police are investigating.

Cheer Up, Baldheads! There Is Hope!

THERE is hope! Cheer up, you baldpaters, for Dr. J. S. Parsegan, of New York, claims he has a machine which will make a doorknob look like a moss bank and will put more hair on any head than Rip Van Winkle had on his chin. Dr. Parsegan, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons and a member of a number of medical societies, has been experimenting on himself and has injected some fifty snips of feminine hair into his head with his electric machine, the main part of which is a fast working needle that thrusts hairs into the epidermis. He used feminine hair because it is finer, and the needle is so delicate as to require the thinnest strands. Some of the hair Dr. Parsegan has sown into his head has fallen out and some, he claims, has grown a bit since he began the experiment on himself over a month ago.

U. S. SAILORS WHO STOLE RUM GET TERMS IN PRISON

Two Of "Eastern Admiral's" Crew Go To Bilibid For 6 Months

J. Sheehan and D. Duskin, two of a quintet of the crew of the U. S. Shipping Board steamer Eastern Admiral charged with offenses before the American authorities when the vessel arrived in port after a voyage made turbulent by drunkenness and fighting among the men, were sentenced yesterday by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China. Sheehan was sentenced to serve six months in Bilibid prison and pay a fine of Gold $100, and Duskin was sentenced to serve six months in Bilibid.

Of the five against whom charges were made, G. Whalen was given the benefit of the doubt at a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl and dismissed. Cases in which F. Rice and A. Swensen are defendants remain to be disposed of.

At the preliminary hearing it was disclosed that a portion of the ship's cargo of rum had been broached by members of the crew and this led to general drunkenness when the ship arrived at Miike, Japan on June 8. Witnesses testified that Sheehan was seen carrying ashore two cans of varnish from the ship's stores and it was when Charles H. Thorpe, second assistant engineer, sought to recover these that a general fight in which Sheehan was the chief aggressor and Thorpe the victim developed on the pier. Sheehan, Duskin, Whalen, Rice and Swensen all are said to have participated in this and in a later struggle that occurred aboard the vessel.

Testimony given in the cases heard yesterday followed closely the testimony that had been given at the preliminary hearing and at its conclusion Judge Lobingier held that both Sheehan and Duskin had struck the officer and found both guilty.

Delay in the hearing of the charges against Rice and Swensen has been occasioned by the fact that both men have been recovering from injuries received in a fight that occurred after the Eastern Admiral arrived in Shanghai. In this Rice was badly slashed with a razor said to have been wielded by Swensen and he has not been able to leave the hospital.

FINANCE CHIEF IN FRANCE SEES BRIGHT FUTURE

M. Doumer Expects Balance To Be Restored By 1925

HIS PROGRAM OUTLINED

No Increase In Paper Currency Will Be Authorised

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 16.—The Minister of Finance, M. Paul Doumer, yesterday informed the financial commission of the Chamber of the outlines of his financial program. M. Doumer did not conceal the difficulties, old and new, of the financial situation, but, he said, France was about to overcome them and the future appeared reassuring.

The Minister declared that in 1922 steps should be taken towards restoring the normal balance of the budget and that in 1925 that balance should be entirely re-established.

With regard to the amounts recoverable from Germany, M. Doumer said that they could now count with more security on payments from Germany as the German Imperial Government had apparently decided to honor its signature and that moreover the Reichsbank had awakened to the fact that the time had come for it to fulfil its obligations and that if it did not do so it would suffer for it.

M. Doumer declared that he would not consent to an increase of the paper currency. If expenses could be sufficiently reduced he did not believe that it would be necessary to increase French taxes in order to balance the 1922 budget. However an increase of the income tax and of the tax on business turnovers might be contemplated in the case of large taxpayers only. The war estimates [illegible] the Minister still considered too high, should be reduced. M. Doumer said he hoped to cover the deficit in the budget by the new resources which the National Defense Bonds, the liquidation of stocks, the increase expected from the Customs duties and the tax on war profits were expected to produce. A consolidation loan might later be floated on the world market.

STANDARD OIL CO. HEAVY SUFFERER IN FORMOSA FIRE

Tanks Explode At Takao When Blaze In Warehouse Spreads

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, June 17.—A fire broke out in the gasoline warehouse of Ando and Company at Takao, Formosa, on Wednesday afternoon, and was followed by the tanks exploding. The fire spread to the premises of the Standard Oil Company, whose tanks also exploded, the burning oil creating a havoc. The oil tanks of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha nearby are also threatened.

The damage so far is estimated at over a million yen.

Rice Situation Is Critical Despite Decrease In Price

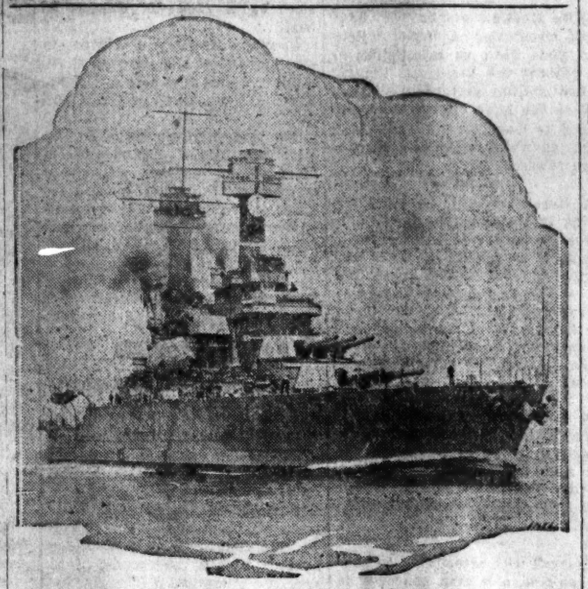
Despite the fact that rice has dropped in price during the last few days, considerable apprehension is felt locally, and among the Chinese the Council's proposal to license the rice shops is meeting with determined opposition.

The local Chinese Chamber of Commerce and the City Chamber of Commerce have forwarded petitions to the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs asking his intercession with the Municipal authorities. The Commissioner has replied to the effect that he has already written and interviewed the Senior Consul on this matter and has requested that the Municipal Council reconsider the licensing, the Consul agreeing to transmit the request.

Rice dropped 20 cents per picul Thursday and a further drop of a few cents was recorded yesterday. The reason assigned is that the shops in the Settlement are apprehensive of developments, pending the Council's final word and that the dealers are anxious to get rid of their inferior grades of stock owing to the weather.

It is rumored that local dealers are transferring their stores to Nantao and Poctung because of fear that the Municipal authorities will begin inspecting stocks on the first of July.

U.S.S. Tennessee Passes Speed Tests In Trials Off Coast Of Maine



THE U. S. S. Tennessee, newest and greatest of our superdreadnoughts going at full speed during her trials off Rockland, Maine. The Tennessee, which is electrically driven, passed the tests with flying colors with an average speed of twenty-one knots an hour. She was recently commissioned at the Brooklyn, N. Bund Widening Project Halted; Petitions Out

As an outcome of the blast of protest that met the announcement that a strip of the Public Gardens was to be utilised to widen The Bund from Peking Road to the Garden Bridge, work on the project has been suspended. It is understood that the decision of the authorities to postpone the work was taken in order to afford every opportunity of hearing [illegible] interested in the matter and of ascertaining the attitude of residents generally toward the project, which already has been authorised by the ratepayers as it is included in the budget approved at the recent ratepayers meeting.

Members of the Civic League are taking a leading part in opposing the work which, if carried out, means the destruction of a considerable number of old shade trees that have adorned the Public Garden for more than a half century.

In order to give expression to the opposition to the project of the Civic League, the chairman of the organisation has issued urgent notices to members and to the public generally to call at his office, 11 Peking Road, to sign a petition that has been prepared which is to be submitted to the Municipal Council.

The project for the widening of the Bund contemplates the building of an additional roadway and of another parking area for motor cars similar to the work already carried out along the Bund south of Peking Road. The first public protest was voiced last week in a letter addressed by Mr. W. Bruce [illegible] to Mr. Charles H. Godfrey, Commissioner of Public Works. Mr. Lockhart contends that much of the attractiveness of the waterfront already has been marred by the work done south of Peking Road and he asserts that the new project is unnecessary.

Mr. Lockhart urged further that the work planned meant that the children's only playground and the only beauty spot left in the crowded central district is to be destroyed.

After the publication in The China Press on Wednesday of Mr. Lockhart's protest together with an illustration showing how the change in the Public Gardens was to be made a number of others raised protests in letters and in other ways. It is by reason of the opposition that active work to carry out the project has been suspended.

BRITISH MINERS VOTING AGAINST PEACE PROPOSAL

Surprisingly Large Majorities Are Being Returned

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—The results of the miners' ballot up to the present show surprisingly large figures against acceptance of the owners' proposals, but indicate numerous abstentions, only a third of the miners voting in some districts.

While the result of the miners' ballot is thus far overwhelmingly against acceptance of the terms, the issue is doubtful owing to the two-thirds majority rule. There is also the question of whether the stoppage is to be terminated by a failure to obtain a two-thirds majority of the whole membership for the continuance of the struggle or of the actual voters only.

A number of miners in the Midlands resumed work today, without awaiting the result of the ballot.

London, June 16.—Messages from Birmingham, Manchester, Cardiff, Glasgow and other industrial centers indicate a tendency toward a revival of trade, as the check to production due to the coal stoppage has resulted in the disposal of stocks, thus facilitating the reduction of prices. There is a corresponding exhaustion of stocks in many foreign markets, notably textiles in China whence large orders are now expected by Lancashire houses, while there have been numerous enquiries at Cardiff from Italy, Spain and South America for Welsh coal.

Queensland May Produce Cotton

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 17.—In the course of yesterday's meeting of the World Cotton Conference at Manchester, Mr. J. M. Hunter, Agent-General for Queensland, stated that the Manchester Chamber of Commerce had given a flattering report on a sample of Queensland-grown cotton. Mr. Hunter said he was convinced that Queensland had fifty million acres which were capable of producing cotton of the quality required by Lancashire.

ANGLO-JAP PACT TO BE BIG ISSUE AT EMPIRE MEET

Premiers Hughes And Massey To Press For Modification

WATCH CANADA

Meighen Declares Question Of Renewal Of Utmost Importance

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—Though there has not been an official announcement on the subject, the newspapers declare that it has been definitely decided that Mr. Lloyd George and the Dominions Prime Ministers will not attend the state opening of the Ulster Parliament. With the opening of the Imperial Cabinet already postponed and the Dominion Prime Ministers anxious to return as soon as possible, all the energies of the delegates will be absorbed in the momentous discussions next week.

Mr. Lloyd George is much stronger as a result of his rest in Wales, which he took in order to be secure against the possibility of a breakdown while presiding at the sessions of the Conference, as he intends to do daily.

Mr. Arthur Meighen, the Canadian Prime Minister, has been silent since his arrival, saying that he must first get into touch with Canadian officials in London and with the British authorities, but the utterances of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Massey indicate that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, in which Canada is most interested, will be one of the chief topics of the Conference, involving, as it does, the whole question of imperial defence, Anglo-American relations and the "white Empire policy."

On the other hand, the Indian representatives profess indifference to the Alliance except in as far as it affects India's defense. This was emphasised by the Maharajah of Cutch yesterday and by Mr. Sastri in an interview today, the latter emphatically declaring that the burning question in India is not Empire defence or the Anglo-Japanese Alliance or foreign policy, but equal rights for Indians within the Empire on an equitable settlement on which the future of India might depend.

London, June 17.—The Canadian Prime Minister, Mr. Meighen, who has hitherto been reticent regarding Canada's attitude on the subject at the Conference of Prime Ministers, was interviewed yesterday regarding the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. He declared guardedly that the question of a renewal of the Alliance was of the utmost importance to Canada, which stand between Great Britain on the one hand and the United States on the other.

London, June 16.—Presiding at a dinner given by the Corona Club to 300 colonial officials, governors and ex-governors, Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, dwelt on the great undeveloped resources of the Crown colonies and referred to the specially magnificent gift of the battleship Malaya and her part in the battle of Jutland.

Mr. Churchill spoke of the great value of personal discussions wherever possible, but in the main, he said, those on the spot must decide on necessary action. The Empire could not be governed from Downing Street.

The future of the Crown colonies was bright, Mr. Churchill proceeded, and he hoped that it would be possible to make a consortium of credits between many Crown colonies and to secure loans on a wider basis. Nothing would be lacking on the part of the Colonial Office to show that it was a fellow-servant in the same cause with those who are keeping the honor of the Empire unstained.

Curzon And Briand To Confer On East

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—Lord Curzon, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, departs for Paris tomorrow to confer with M. Briand regarding affairs in the East. It is expected that the Italian representative at Paris will join in the discussions.

GERMAN LINERS TO REAPPEAR ON ATLANTIC SOON

Hamburg - Amerika Director Tells Plans For New Fleet

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 16.—Herr Cuno, a Director of the Hamburg-Amerika Line, who has sailed for Europe from here, declared on his departure that the Line would rebuild during the next five years approximately a third of its pre-war fleet, consisting of modern 5,000 and 12,000 ton freighters and also two 22,000 ton liners for the Atlantic passenger trade.

London, June 16.—At question time in the House of Commons today, Sir William Mitchell-Thompson stated that 1,165 ships, with a total net tonnage of 1,707,000 tons, were laid up in the United Kingdom on April 30.

British Boy Scouts To Rent Plot Of Land

Authority Given To Hire Five Mow On Avenue Haig

Considerable important business, including the hiring of a piece of land for Boy Scout activities, came before the Council of the Baden Powell Boy Scouts in meeting at the British Consulate-General yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul General and was attended by the full Council.

It was decided that a piece of land which has been under consideration, located on Avenue Haig, be hired for a year and that Dean Symons, who, with Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott, is trustee of the property, be communicated with to find out whether the property may not be purchased outright for the organisation. The land comprises five mow and Dr. Hawks Pott, in the absence of Dean Symons, has agreed to the rental and given the Scouts the refusal on its purchase.

Other business coming before the meeting included the formation of a larger and more representative Council and authority was given for the invitation to membership in the association of the Senior British naval officer, the head masters of the schools and several members of the professional and municipal office holding fraternity in Shanghai.

The Council also elected Mr. F. C. Millington, former District Scout Master, to the post of Assistant Commissioner and Mr. I. D. MacDonald to the post of District Scout Master.

The question of a district headquarters was brought up, but in view of the expense to be incurred through the acquisition of the land for Scouts' activities it was thought best to defer this project for the time being.

With a view to aiding the finances of the organisation and aiding in the program of extensions which is projected the Council decided to collect a subscription of $5 from all members of the association, except the members wearing the Scout's uniform.

There was some further discussion of Scouts' activities and possibilities and the meeting adjourned with a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman.

"The Kid" Popular

Seldom has a picture been screened here that has drawn the houses which have greeted "The Kid," now showing at the Victoria Theater with Charlie Chaplin and little Jack Coogan. The comedy—and there is a tear or two—is in six reels and is well worth seeing. Bookings should be made in advance.

Mixed Court Jottings

The assault charge laid against a Russian engineer named Whitgob, which came up in the Mixed Court a week ago, was withdrawn yesterday.

Yesterday at the Mixed Court the case was called of a Russian youth, A. R. Poliak, 165 Bubbling Well Road, who is charged with reckless driving of a motor car. The defendant's father appeared and stated that owing to examinations—his son being a public school student—accused could not appear. The case was adjourned for one week.

Two Russian women who have been circulating a letter soliciting alms were so injudicious as to present the same at Central police station yesterday. Taken before the Mixed Court they promised to leave town within three days, on which consideration they were released.

A Russian named Pavelieff, residing in Muirhead Road, failed to appear yesterday to answer to a charge of assaulting a tram conductor on the Seward Road line. An official of the tram company was on hand and went security for the appearance of the defendant a week hence, when efforts will be made to have the complainant in court.

A Chinese convicted of snatching a parcel of opium from a ricsha passenger in Central district Thursday night was sentenced to two months' imprisonment. The opium was ordered confiscated. $20 worth gone.

Charged with attempting to commit suicide, a woman appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday as evidence of the masculine revolt against the present wave of feminine extravagance caused by the fashions. The husband testified that his wife had asked him for $1, with which to purchase adornment. On his refusal she swallowed a large chunk of opium. Hospital activities averted the obituary notice and the lady was severely cautioned by the Court and told to refrain from such tactics in future.

A Chinese who claims to be a tailor was fined $30, with the option of 30 days in jail, yesterday for conducting an opium den at 253 Dong Ka Loong. Three patrons who appeared were fined $3 each and two who failed to appear forfeited bail of $5 each.

"Trilby" Opening Offering Tonight Of Waring Company

The return engagement of the H. B. Waring Company will be opened tonight at the Lyceum theater with the presentation of the celebrated play 'Trilby' and this is to be repeated on Monday night. On Tuesday night Dumas' delightful comedy of manners, minuets and intrigues, "A Marriage of Convenience" will be given by the company. A novelty provided in the offering on Wednesday night will be a program of three one-act plays.

Community Church Notes

Tonight there will be a lawn fete at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Parker, 19 Quinsan Road. The social is under the committee of the Community Church. The band from the U.S.S. Huron will furnish music.

GEOLOGISTS AND ENGINEERS FROM U.S. REACH JAPAN

Will Explore Mining Property Of South Manchurian Railway Company

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 17.—A party of American geological and engineering experts arrived here today by the Kashima Maru from Seattle, and will leave for Manchuria on Sunday, in order to explore the mining property of the South Manchuria Railway, and also to investigate the possibilities of reducing the ore deposits of Anshun to steel on a profitable commercial basis.

Special attention will be given to the question of slope versus shaft-mining, which, according to Colonel Stevens, would double the coal output.

The party is accompanied by Mr. Yozo Tamura, the representative of the S.M.R. in America, who pays a tribute to "the unselfish interest displayed by Dr. Appleby, the head of the party, and also by American financiers in New York, in gathering expert talent for the expedition —a proof of the friendly relations between Japan and America."

Rival Militarists Reach Agreement

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 16.—The danger of a conflict between the forces of General Feng Yu-hsiang and Colonel Tang Chung-chow is now said to be past. General Feng is at Luhokou and Colonel Tang at Tungkuan. Each Commander recently sent a representative to visit the other and a friendly understanding was reached. General Chen Shu-fan has issued fresh orders to the troops under Colonel Tang and other leaders under the former's control to keep the peace and show no hostility towards the new Tuchun. The latter, General Yen Hsiang-wen, should soon reach Tungkuan.

Creighton-Warren, Specialty Dancers At Astor Tonight

Artists Have Appeared With Many European And American Stars

The specialty dancers, Fred Creighton and Sybil Warren, who have been engaged by the management of the Astor House for tonight have appeared on the same stage with the leading theatrical stars of America and Europe. In Australia they played with Harry Lauder and in London with Adeline Genee. In America they were with the Anna Pavlowa Company and on the famous Keith Vaudeville Circuit, and in Cuba they were members of the Sarah Bernhard Company.

The reputation which has preceded Creighton and Warren to Shanghai indicates that they are entertainers of the highest order. Their dancing has been described as brilliant. They will appear at the Astor House both in the dining room and later in the ball room.

The Hague, June 16.—The Crown Prince of Japan and Prince Kanin have arrived here. They were received with military honors, and drove through gaily decorated streets to the Palace. Crown Prince Hirohito visited the Queen Mother and dined with her, and the Queen and Prince Henry. He then accompanied Prince Henry to a brilliant reception and ball at the Foreign Ministry.

Two Mail Steamers Due In Next Week

Next Mail For U. S. Probably Will Be Forwarded On Empress Of Russia

Following the sailing today of the steamer Monteagle of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services it is probable that the next mail to be dispatched to America will go on the C.P.O.S. steamer Empress of Russia, scheduled to sail from Shanghai on June 25. The Monteagle took out about 600 sacks of mail matter from the American Post office and is due to arrive at Vancouver, British Columbia on July 7.

Two incoming mails that will be received next week will arrive on the steamer Nile of the China Mail, which is due to arrive next Wednesday, and on the Golden State, Pacific Mail shipping board liner, which was delayed five days in sailing from San Francisco due to the strike and is scheduled to arrive next Wednesday or Thursday.

Labor In America Caustic In Reply To International Body

(Reuter's Service)

Denver, June 17.—The American Federation of Labor has addressed a letter to the International Federation of Trades Unions, strongly denouncing the latter's request for the former's reconsideration of its withdrawal from affiliation.

The letter refers to the International Federation's alleged revolutionary activities, and declares that the American Labor movement does not accept the International Federation's declarations as truly expressing the whole European trades-union movement.

00,000 SAVED BY RELIEF WORK IN WEST CHIHLI

fferers Carried Through To Harvest—Much Road Building

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, June 16.—The Tangfu United International mine Relief Committee Work- at Hantan, Western Chihli, timate that more than 500,000 rsons were kept from starva- n through the late Winter and ring up to the harvest time rly in June.

These were all aided by the e distribution of grain. In ition thousands of others were lped through building and re- ring roads, and locks and ditches. ll another additional avenue of lief was that offered through hools which were maintained ring the months of the relief rk. Hundreds of children at- ded these relief schools and re given an allowance for each 's attendance, sufficient often, t only for themselves, but ough so that a little might be rried home to mother, brother sister.

During the period of distribu- n at Hantan which began late January and has just closed ore than 8,000 tons of grain has en distributed, 3,000 tons of which as given out in May, the month greatest need. Our 10,000 onthly ration tickets were re- emed in grain on the biggest ys, in addition to the issue r labor projects. Each ration cket called for 20 catties of illets or 25 catties of kaoliang corn. If a man lived more an a day's journey away he was ven an extra catty of grain for ch day required in making his ip. It was quite the custom r men who lived any distance way to come in groups of two more bringing their wheel- arrows and tickets calling for rain for several of their villagers. heir pay came from the extra rain given for each day's dis- nce away. Those farthest away me 180 to 190 li and pushed eir loaded wheel-barrows back ver the rough, hot sandy roads ithout complaints.

For hours and even days the ne outside the grain yard wali as yards long, sometimes much ver two hundred yards in length. the busiest times men slept rough the night in their place line so as not to lose it next ay.

Much money and grain has een put into projects of various inds. The Committee at Peking ppropriated $55,000.00 for the uilding of a road from Hantan est to Wuan in Honan. This oad is standard right-of-way in idth and properly graded and raveled and will be a great onument to the labor projects in his region. An appropriation of 18,000.00 was made to build ocks and ditches at Yungnien. Thousands of men were employed or this work which is now com- lete. Many lesser appropriations n grain and money have been ade for road repairing, digging f ditches, etc. Appropriations ere made for the operation of spinning factory which employ- d people in need, and for a trawbraid factory which also em- loyed the needy.

Nearly $50,000.00 went into a arge number of schools operated s famine relief schools, through- ut the eleven hsien controlled by he Tamingfu Committee. In ddition quite a number of chools have been opened recently hich were designed to care for hildren, especially girls, which ad been or were about to be old into slavery. These schools ill continue operation for about nother month yet.

Several thousand dollars was istributed to the people to be sed in the purchase of seed rain. This part of the relief was not pushed as energetically as other phases of it.

The crops in the Hantan area are very spotted and uneven. The acreage in wheat is reported two or three times normal but the yield is 10 percent to 60 percent normal. This amount of grain is bound to help relieve the famine situation. The days that everybody was in the fields harvesting scarcely any one came to get free grain yet due them. The camp outside the grain yard will cleared out until everything lookd deserted. Even the beggars hadn't the face to beg during the busy rush, harvest days.

Rain on the second and third of June broke the long, hot, dry spell and gave promise to an autumn crop much of which was up but struggling hard to live. The country all the way from Hantan to Peking should not need any wide spread relief if summer rains continue for late crops are promising. Famine conditions are certainly somewhat relieved in the Hantan area for the present, at least.

Father Wheels Baby 1,000 Miles In Quest Of Health

AFTER wheeling his baby son 1,000 miles in a perambulator all over the State of California, James F. Watkins has arrived in Los Angeles happy in the knowledge that the baby, James, Jr., is in the best of health. The little fellow was left motherless shortly after his birth. He contracted pneumonia and the illness left him very weak. Watkins decided that fresh air and plenty of it was all that would save his little son's life, so he "hit the road," wheeling James, Jr., in a perambulator.

COLONISATION SCHEME PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Prof. Bailey's Colony At Purple Mountain Emulated North Of River

Chuchow, June 13.—Eight years ago Prof. Joseph Bailey, then connected with the University of Nanking, planted a colony of poor Chinese on the slopes of Purple Mountain near that city. It seemed such a feasible scheme that he came north of the Yangtse looking for more land to conquer. He found an abundance of uncultivated land. He would not find it so plentiful today. In the Laian district east of Chuchow were range after range of hills producing successive crops of wild grass and locusts. Prof. Bailey with the local missionaries looked over the land and invited in the local gentry to talk. Some ten thousand dollars left over from a famine fund had been placed in his hands for such work.

Money usually is quite able to make itself heard, and it did in this case. The local gentry saw a bit of chance for themselves. The magistrate was willing to push forward the scheme. The country had just passed through its Revolution and a product of "Young China" held the provincial governorship at Anking. They voted to put some thousands of rolling acres, together with a large bamboo grove, under the title of a Colonisation Association. The Governor approved, a committee of nine Chinese gentry and three resident foreigners was elected and ninety poor families were soon building cabins and breaking up the land. About two-thirds of the famine fund grant was used up before the farmers got the land into shape to pay.

BAILEY WITHDRAWS

Eventually Prof. Bailey withdrew from the work and went north to find new fields to conquer. The direction of the colony gradually passed into the hands of one or two Chinese elders who were interested. The foreigners resident in the district have usually found their counse's undesired. The Chinese have their own ways of running a business. Considering how many of them like to take a slice of the funds passing through their hands; also remembering how easy it is for a bunch of them to quarrel over the disposition of any public funds, or else to gradually absorb such funds among themselves; every Chinese tradition would indicate that the whole scheme ought to have petered out long ago. Their famous saying, so often repeated today, "Tiger's head and serpent's tail," stands for this petering tendency.

They have had enough outside troubles which they might have blamed for any break up of the colony. Robbers have terrorised the surrounding country and made it hard to plow, plant or reap. Locusts have taken their full share of the profits. The land was new and not of the richest of soils. The farmers had hard work getting it into shape. The gloomy political situation of the country has affected the remotest districts.

ASSOCIATION LIVES

Nevertheless the Laian Colonisation Association has lived and had a meeting the other day. Very few of the old Chinese committee were there. They don't understand how to run things by committee. They put responsibility upon some one or two men and expect them to deliver the goods. It has worked here. A lot of interested friends were invited to hear the reports. These reports showed a balance in the treasury and the Chairman asked permission to use it in building a small headquarters on the land, this building to be used for annual meetings, for day school and for gatherings of the farmers, even for Christian meetings. This latter item was interesting since it was proposed by non-Christian men. It probably was part sop to the missionaries, and part a dim realisation that the new China, character and Christianity are somehow to be inter-related.

The truth of it is, the colony has succeeded because of one man, a Chinese Christian farmer, who was early made local supervisor of the work in the colony. At the annual meeting Chinese and foreigners, Christian and non-Christian united in praising the faithfulness and honesty this man has shown in the discharge of his duties. With one voice they demanded that he be kept on the job. The fact that nearly the entire original ninety familes who had been planted on the colony land are still there, would indicate that they also approved of their supervisor. Upon him now will fall the overseeing of the headquarters building, the gathering of children of the farmers into the proposed day-school and even the occasional gathering of the parents into Christian meetings. Wonder what Diogenes would have thought of this man had the rays of his lantern fallen on him. There is some hope for China yet when such a colony has been maintained through these years in spite of lack of policemen to whom to tell their trials.

Your records insure the future of your business.

FURTHER DETAILS GIVEN CONCERNING NEW TARIFF ACT

Measure Provides For Higher Duties On Various Exports Shipped From China

Additional details concerning the American Emergency Tariff Act which are of interest to exporters in China have been supplied by the Department of State to the American Consulate. Increased duties are provided for on certain foodstuffs, livestock, cotton, wool and tobacco by the measure which became effective on May 28.

The text of a message received yesterday by the American Consulate concerning the new measure is as follows:

"A copy of the Emergency Tariff Act, effective on May 28, 1921, is being mailed to your office. The act provides for increased duties on certain foodstuffs, livestock, cotton wool, and tobacco. The act also provides for additional duties to prevent dumping.

"The importation of sodium nitrite dyes and dyestuffs, and various chemicals, into the United States is prohibited for three months, unless substitutes therefore are not obtainable in the United States.

"The act also provides that there must be a statement on all invoices as to the currency in which the invoice is made out, stating whether gold, silver or paper is used. For the purpose, of assessing the duty on the articles covered in the invoices, the conversion of the currency in which the invoices are made out, shall be based upon the mint value proclaimed quarterly by the Secretary of the Treasury.

"However, if no mint value has been proclaimed or if the value proclaimed varies by five percent or more from that measured by the buying rate for cable transfers payable in foreign currency in New York as determined by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, then such buying rates shall be used for the conversion of the currency.

"As the act provides for the repeal of Section 2903 of the Revised Statutes under which currency certificates have heretofore been authorised and for the repeal of Section 3565 establishing the value of the pound sterling, discontinue the issuance of currency certificates and include in the invoices a statement regarding the currency."

Commencement At Nanking Monday

Local Chinese organisations are evidently still much agitated over the recent shooting of two shop assistants in North Szechuen Road and have written the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs urging summary justice for the Singhalese who is charged with the double murder. The Commissioner, in response to numerous communications, has replied that he has written to the Senior Consul asking that severe punishment be exacted and that the Municipal Council take steps to discover where the accused secured the pistol with which the crime was committed. He has also requested that representatives be allowed present during the court proceedings.

FREAK BETS ON FIGHT HERE WITH DEMPSEY HAVING JUST A SLIGHT EDGE ON CARPENTIER

All Sorts Of Wagers Being Made In Shanghai On World's Championship Battle But Issue Is Even As Can Be; New York Odds Discounted

WITH Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, Jack Curley, and William A. Brady figuring on Georges Carpentier to knock Jack Dempsey for a flip at Jersey City two weeks from tonight, local men who figured on backing Dempsey hard and heartily are shying coyly at the idea of giving the New York odds when placing money on the present champion.

Shanghai is noted for freak queries coming to the sporting bets and for this reason the many queries coming to the sporting editor from those who desire to wager on the coming battle, can not be answered. Before us we have six letters. They are short and to the point. They embody but one question. It is "What is the betting here on Dempsey and Carpentier?"

The question could be answered sweetly and nicely with "Every sort of bet is being made here." Here are some of the wagers made yesterday.

One man bet another ten dollars to a hundred that the fight would be over in a round. No probable winner was named. Another was giving seven to five on Dempsey. A third was betting even on Carpentier. A fourth, at the French Club, was willing, when pressed, to give the shade to Georges.

There appears to be no favorite in the betting here and little attention is given to New York odds as the American public will probably be willing to wager the house and garage—whether it is near Lincoln Park or a few li outside of Gopher Prairie—that Dempsey will beat Carpentier with the same ease that Gink Fowler prompted K. O. O'Kay to do an Egyptian dance on his nose, with the canvas for a stage.

Dempsey, regardless of previous unpopularity, is in right with the American fight fan today from all that can be gleaned in New York clippings. Dempsey has thrown his training camp wide open—for those who have four bits—while Carpentier has erected barbed wire entanglements around the compound where he is preparing for the Jersey City meeting. Thus more is heard of Dempsey, he looks better because Georges can't be seen—and the New York betters figure that William Harrison Jack is more or less a sure winner in one or less rounds.

The New Yorker who makes the wager in the vicinity of Times Square, 178th street, the Battery or Third Avenue, can't see Carpentier with a Zo-sei telescope. But the young man in the tourist agency who knows that France is not a province of Persia is taking the odds and French officers in the clubs at Saigon and Algiers are perfectly willing to believe—and bet—that the young Mr. Carpentier will knock Mr. J. H. Dempsey for a row of banyan forests.

In Shanghai, our most international city, the betting should be even. Dempsey has no edge on enthusiasm and Carpentier is far more popular, not only with other nationals but also with Americans.

Here most of the citizens realise that Patagonia is not a county in Persia and Kiaochow is not the capital of the Philippines.

And the next bird that asks us how to bet on the scrap will get this answer.

"It's an even bet. Get even money if you can—and don't give odds either way."

If you do not believe we are correct, read THE CHINA PRESS on Sunday, July third.

In The Meantime They Are Preparing For This July Affair

(Reuter's Service)

Atlantic City, June 17.—Dempsey, wearing special headgear to prevent the re-opening of the gash on his left eye, has resumed sparring with two lightweights. For the present he is not risking any bouts with heavyweights.

The champion yesterday worked 40 minutes under a blazing sun in an open arena, which will probably represent the conditions of the contest on July 2.

HERE IS GEORGES

Manhasset, June 17.—Carpentier, in the course of his training, has permitted Jeannette to beat a tattoo on his abdomen, in order to "assimilate" punishment.

He afterwards sparred four rounds with Denis, Journee, Jeannette and Gans, with satisfactory results.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer:

THEY WERE MEN IN THOSE DAYS

When Brother Met Brother It Was Sister Call The Ambulance

BY 'BUGS' BAER

Dear Sir:

I have just completed a telescopic investigation of that Mothers' and Babies' Playground, misbranded Roughtown. The only thing rough is the wash in the town launary. I also learned that they train Gink by putting him through the mangle. Then they starch his jello backbone and put a cuff around his neck to keep his head up. My man, Rabbitheart Jones, knocked him inside out.

Yours slightly,
J. HIGGINS,
Brooklyn, in the new 49th State.

By a terrific drag on the memory muscles, we remember Rabbitheart Jones. The champion of Rough town slipped him one generous poke on the chinpiece and knocked his teeth so far that he had to take a railroad journey to pick them. We also have a hazardous recollection of one J. Higgins, who was Ku Kluxed out of Roughtown for throwing sevens with one dice.

Rabbitheart was always in shape. But so is a bad egg. Gink stuffed him on the hat. It was only centrifugal force that kept Rabbit from flying out of his shoes without unlacing them. This was one of the nights that Gink had forgotten to take his little bow and arrow into the ring. But he broadaxed Rabbit with an enfilading fire of ripe knuckles. Gink went all over Rabbit like a professional tatooer over a sailor.

A CHIVALROUS KICK

Rabbit nocked off a loose ten seconds on the Persian canvas. While he was considering ways and means, Gink took a chivalrous kick at him from a non-partisan angle. Rabbit decided he was much safer on his own feet. While he was doping out a laughing exit, the gong rang and saved him up for another round.

Now here was a very morose technicality about Gink's official punching power. His fists were not as other men's lunch spearers. His knuckles were cast en bloc. They were one-piece, like advertised Winter underwear. When a man ran into a wild voyage of Gink's mitts it was like calves in the slaughter house.

For this reason Gink never published his complete walloping memoirs. He used to assassinate his opponents very gently.

NO BIRD TOO TOUGH

He punched many an eagle into the cuckoo class. No bird was too tough for him. The night he met The Glutt in a slugging dansant will live in history's archives until all the sand runs out of the hour glass into the sugar. The Glutt was a ringtooting terror with callouses on his conscience as big as folding doors. He could punch with both feet, and loved to trade two big bruises for one little one.

But Gink was his Simon Legree.

Both men were training for their big fight in Adam's Sheepshead Bay boarding house. They used to perch at opposite ends of the table and eat soup at each other in a very threatening manner. We've got to hand The Glutt thirty days' credit. Gink couldn't put the bulldoze on him at all. This was in March, 1867. The fight was to be torn off in July, 1892. Both men had but a scant twenty-five years in which to train. Gink claimed that if he ever whipped himself into shape he would whip The Glutt out of shape.

This was no ideal boast.

Great Little Manila Battler Loses In Unusual Manner

BY ELLIOTT METCALF

Got into a chinning breeze with Eddie Tait, Tacoma and Manila sportsman, and the talk drifted to fighters. When Eddie first landed in Tacoma to put over his recreation ground project at American Lake, south side, he told of a sensational little battler over in Manila named Dencio Cabanela, whose ring name was "Kid" Dencio. During the conversation that ensued Eddie was asked what had become of "Kid" Dencio. And Tait replied:

"That reminds me. Say, I just got papers from Manila and from Sydney, Australia, telling of the defeat of Dencio against the great French featherweight, Eugene Criqui, in a most unusual manner. After beating Criqui for 17 rounds and beating him handily all the way, the Frenchman staying up under the attack only through great gameness, clinching and covering up, Dencio suddenly collapsed in the ring. He fell right down during an exchange and never got up. He was not hit. The sudden and rather sensational ending caused quite a furore. Dencio lost the decision. It's the queerest thing I've ever heard of in the ring game, and I've been with the sport for years. Dencio had been troubled with a severe headache before and during the battle."

Out of his pocket Eddie pulled the papers telling of the battle. The Sydney paper of March 23 quoted W. F. Corbett, dean of Australian boxing reporters, as follows, bearing out Tait's statements:

"Strongly outstanding features were Criqui's splendid gameness and Dencio's great fighting. Sydney has at last seen Dencio Cabanela, the Philippine Islander, in the ring, and opposed to one thoroughly fitted to test the quality of his steel, and Sydney is, or should be well satisfied that he is all advance notices made him out and perhaps a bit more. Here we have one case where introductory information was not in the slightest degree misleading.

"Dencio met Eugene Criqui at the Stadium last Saturday night, and was beaten at the termination of the 14th round in a manner that yet has to be satisfactorily explained to the enquiring mind, explanations have been offered by people close to the colored boy, who are apparently not sure of their ground.

THRILLS AND THRILLS

"The boxers, it was announced, each weighed 8.12¾. To the fraction of an ounce is as close as the scales could have brought them, but this happens more frequently than many people might believe.

"A 'strange coincidence,' to use a phrase,
By which such things are settled nowadays."
—(Byron, in Don Juan).

"There were thrills often. Even the ending was a thrill.

"When the 13th round closed, Dencio still appeared, as he had looked for some time, a more than likely winner. One thought he might knock his opponent out or, if he did not do that, and continued strong, he certainly would win on points.

"Dencio commenced the 14th well. He smashed lefts and rights on the Frenchman's face, as he had often before smashed them.

A ROUGH RALLY

"In the middle of a rough rally the Filipino fell heavily to one knee through tripping on the Criqui corner cuspidor. After that he was not the same factor. The violence of the fall seemed to shake him so that his power faded palpably. A rousing rally took place up against the ropes within a yard or two of the Dencio angle. Just before the clang of the gong Criqui swung his opponent to the boards. Dencio rose as the signal for the minute's truce sounded—the count had not gone two seconds. As he moved towards his chair he collapsed and had to be lifted into it.

"Energetic seconds got to work on their principal to no purpose. He was completely gone, and eventually had to be carried from the ring.

Races At Kiangwan Today, Rain Or Shine

Whether it rains or whether it shines—according to official announcement—the last races of the spring season will be run today at Kiangwan. This is the second day program of the Dragon Boat Festival meeting which was postponed a week ago by reason of wet weather. The card includes a program of ten events and the first saddling bell will ring at 2 o'clock.

The usual transportation facilities by special trains, and motor cars from the Central Garage will be provided.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH SHOOT ON TOMORROW

Clay Pigeon Club Men Will Also Compete For June Cup

The June Cup will be shot for on the grounds of the Shanghai Clay Pigeon Club tomorrow afternoon at 3.30, the conditions being 40 birds from Leggett trap. Club handicaps.

In conjunction with this competition a match will take place between five British and five American members, and a very interesting contest should ensue as based on last Sunday's shooting there was only one bird difference between the two teams.

The scores last week being:

British Team		American Team
Nazer	34	Gibson	36
Read	33	Hexamer	35
Algar	33	Doremus	34
Gande	32	Hendrickson	30
Moller	32	Himrod	28
	164		163

Each member of the team is contributing $3 towards a cup to go the highest scorer of the winning team.

Scout Competition Is This Afternoon

The Inter-patrol competition of the first troop of the Chinese boy scouts of the Public School for Chinese, 35 Elgin Road, will be held, weather permitting, on the school ground this afternoon at three o'clock. A large number of guests have been invited to attend.

DOUBLEHEADER BILLED TODAY; TWO GAMES ON TOMORROW IF WEATHER MAN CO-OPERATES

Shanghai Playing U. S. S. Huron In Opener This Afternoon With Second Game Unsettled; Locals Play Team From Destroyers Sunday

Baseball Schedule

TODAY
2:15 p.m., Shanghai vs. U. S. S. Huron
4:00 p.m., U. S. S. Helena vs Shanghai or U.S.S. Quiros.
TOMORROW
2:15 p.m., Shanghai vs. 2nd Sec., 13th Div.
4:00 p.m., 1st Sec., 13th Div., vs. U.S.S. Chandler.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22
2:30 p.m., U.S.S. Huron vs. 1st Sec., 13th Div.
5:15 p.m., Shanghai vs. U.S.S. Hovey.
SATURDAY, JUNE 25
2:15 p.m., U.S.S. Huron vs. U.S.S. Chandler.
4:00 p.m., Shanghai vs. 1st Sec., 13th Div.
SUNDAY, JUNE 26
2:15 p.m., Shanghai vs. U.S.S. Chandler.
4:00 p.m., 2nd Sec., 13th Div., vs. U.S.S. Hovey.

The above baseball schedule was arranged yesterday afternoon when the skies had cleared off and the sun was shining, and Manager Ross, of the Shanghai Baseball Club was all optimistic for a resumption of baseball weather and baseball. But by the time it was put through this old Remington typewriter, it was raining again just as it has for the past week, and prospects do not look too bright that we will even get a start on the playing table.

However, we will be just as optimistic as Major Ross and announce two baseball games for today, and two more for tomorrow, and doubleheaders again for Wednesday and next week end. And if the weather breaks things up again the matchmakers can fix up another list of games.

The second game today was an eleventh hour bit of business. The Helena boys have been keen for a game ever since they lit in town from their spring watch at Vladivostok. They had a game halfway fixed up for today with the U.S.S. Quiros, but last night they didn't know whether or not it still held good. If the Quiros game doesn't materialise, the Shanghai men will take them on so they are assured of a game in any event.

CY YELLS FOR GANG

Before going further, Cy Wilhoit, the Captain of the Shanghai nine wants to get a paragraph in somewhere near the top of this story, to the effect that he wants all of the 28 Shanghai ball players on his pay roll to be at the club dressing room at the Race Course at 1:30 this afternoon. He didn't say why, but it is understood that he will make a speech or something. Don't forget the time: 1:30 p.m. The first game begins at 2:15 o'clock.

Fans will notice that Shanghai is billed against the "Huron" today. No mention is made of the "United States Asiatic Fleet." No one has told the writer, but he maintains that he is entitled to suppose that this means that the "Asiatic Fleet" team no longer exists. It is known that Gage, the fleet's star shortstop, and O'Barr, its busy second sacker, and Knoch, a twirler already have returned to their regular stations at Cavite and elsewhere. It is also known that this "fleet" team was gathered together for the Olympic games, and further that the Olympic games are finished. So the "fleet's" Olympic team must be finished too.

There were rumors about town yesterday that the Huron baseball chiefs were contemplating drafting the best men from the thirteen destroyers, to strengthen out their "Fleet" team for its games against Shanghai, but a little investigation half-way disproved the gossip.

The flagship, it is felt in all quarters, will have to settle back to its own ship's team, and the other aggregations of ball players in the flotilla will be left with their full strength nines to enter the ball play ashore.

GOOD SCHEDULE READY

The local managers did a big piece of baseball work yesterday afternoon in booking up that schedule of baseball. Local fans may not realise it, but that flotilla out in the Whangpoo has some baseball talent that will keep the most blase spectator interested in the game. The Destroyers for the most part, have bunched their players into divisions, and the result is that each division has a strong team. The Chandler, however has a real team all of its

Cotton Men In Session

At a combined meeting of the Cotton Millowners' Association of China and the Cotton Anti-Adulteration Association held yesterday at the offices of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd. there were present: Messrs. E. C. Pearce (Chairman), J. Flynn, J. Okada, J. Spunt, A. Jessiman, R. J. McNicol, and J. B. Griffing.

The Chairman's remarks and a summary of the address afterwards given by Mr. J. B. Griffing of the University of Nanking follows:

The Chairman said:

"This Meeting of the Cotton Millowners' Association and the Cotton Anti-Adulteration Association has been called in order that we may receive a report from Mr Griffing on the work accomplished in regard to Cotton Improvement and the work he has in view and also to pass his estimated Budget for the current year.

"It will perhaps be remembered that last year the budget provided for $8,900, while for this year the amount required is the same. As before it is proposed that $2,000 be paid by the Cotton Millowners' Association and the balance by the Cotton Anti-Adulteration Association. In view of the importance of the work being done I think the amount involved is reasonable. Details of the expenditure are given in the 'Outline of Cotton Experiment Work proposed for 1921', now in your hands.

"I beg to propose that the sum of $8,900 be voted by the two Associations for cotton experiment work during the current year."

This was seconded by Mr. J. Flynn and was carried unanimously.

Mr. Griffing's address followed. It is a summary of report of cotton improvement work for 1920:

"The work of last year has been directed largely along two lines, the acclimatisation of American cotton and the improvement of Chinese cotton.

AMERICAN COTTON RESULTS

"Pure seed imported from America was grown on the University farms and in co-operation with stations at Nanhsuchow, Tunko, Nantungchow, Shanghai, and a farmer near Nanking. The yields at the interior locations were very satisfactory in spite of the fact that the arrival of the seed was a little late for most favorable planting. At Nanhsuchow the American cotton gave a yield on the best plots of 174 catties per mow as compared with a yield of 96 catties of Chinese cotton.

"At the University farm the fields were both heavily rogued and then selected so that yields cannot be figured, but on similar soil, at the Nanking station of the Chinese Mill Owners' Association there was a yield, from seed which we supplied, of 185 catties per mow while their best Chinese cotton was 111 catties per mow. The farmer near Nanking on rather light upland made a little over 100 catties per mow and is expanding his area this year.

"American cotton at Shanghai and Nantungchow was not a success and these districts can probably best be served by an improvement of Chinese cotton combined with a crusade against the pink boll worm.

CHINESE COTTON

"In Chinese cotton improvement we have been successful in creating a new and superior variety of Chinese cotton with lint from 1 in. to 1 1-8 ins. of fine quality and color and heavy yield. Of this selection there were but seven plants but the seed from these has planted between two and three mow which will give a commercial sample of lint this year and seed for more than 100 mow next year.

"Three other improved strains of Chinese cotton are also being propagated for maximum multiplication in a pure state.

SELECTION WORK

"During the fall 6,000 selections were made of the American cotton in the acclimatisation work, and 15,000 selections were made in Chinese cotton fields. These samples were all given careful laboratory study throughout the winter and the best saved for propagation.

"It is only by a combination of field selection, careful laboratory selection and roguing that success may be attained in acclimatising American cotton.

"The average quality, percent lint, lint index, etc. of the American cotton was lower than in America but the specimens finally selected for planting were superior to the average in America.

ROGUING DIFFICULTIES

"The policy of roguing the cotton grown on the lands of co-operators did not prove very satisfactory and it will be advisable to greatly expand the area grown directly by the University. At the same time it is necessary to carry on a campaign of education in order that a pure supply of seed so established may be properly spread and maintained.

METHODS OF CULTURE

"A number of investigations were made in methods of culture and production costs and five different machines have been devised and used experimentally in cotton cultivation. We are now ready to recommend the use of a machine of a type which can be made locally at a cost of not over three dollars and which can cover twenty times the area in a day which a man can hoe.

"An investigation was made of the insect pest of the Pootung district and a general study of the pink boll worm situation. The former insect may possibly be kept in check by the use of a certain poisonous dust (calcium arsenate) applied by hand dust guns. The pink boll worm can be checked by fumigation of seed. It will not be practical to fumigate all the cotton seed planted in China, but the pink boll worm can be checked in all areas where seed control is established. That is, by developing improved seed areas on a community basis, and by controlling the seed supply the improved seed can be fumigated and the pink boll worm be reduced to a minimum in all areas under such control.

GINNING

"The cotton of farmers in the neighborhood of Nanking as well as the University cotton was ginned on the small hand gin by operating from the beginning of the season in the fall until about China New Year. The expansion of a pure seed supply by the University, the gaining of control of the pure seed situation and establishing of a pure seed center at Nanking will depend upon securing a small power gin. A three horse power kerosene engine equipment could handle the product of 2,000 mow during a run of one hundred days.

PERSONNEL EDUCATION

"In the training of personnel the fund which was designed to cover the work of six assistants has been stretched to cover a total of twelve assistants besides nine others who have done cotton work and paid their own expenses. The work of a large number of assistants not only develops a large personnel but makes possible a large amount of cotton work.

"In educational work demonstration lectures have been delivered at eleven different schools or community centers to the extent of seventeen different lectures. An educational exhibit has been maintained at the University which has been explained several times a week to visiting students, gentry, and others seeking agricultural information. A class in cotton culture and one in plant improvement have been given in the University throughout the year. In all the work emphasis has been placed on the practical activities in the field.

PLANS FOR 1921

"The work projected for the coming year will be largely concentrated on creating a high quality of acclimatised seed from the selected American stock and in multiplying in the most rapid manner the improved Chinese cotton already secured. Because of the difficulties involved in roguing cotton on the lands of others, the area of pure seed grown by the University will be expanded by the leasing of land and operating the same directly. It is hoped that by practising strict economy that the expanded area will be self supporting. The selection and breeding plots at the University for this year cover about seventy mow. In addition to this the University has purchased 150 mow of good land outside the city wall of which sixty mow is planted to American cotton and another tract has been leased on which nearly one hundred mow has been put in. By establishing a ginning unit that can gin the cotton of the adjoining farmers a pure seed area will be established and expanded at Nanking.

"American cotton seed will be acclimatised at Nanhsuchow and Chuchow. At the former place the Presbyterian mission donates the use of land up to 20 mow, and at the latter station 50 mow of land has been donated by the gentry for the work.

"For the Chinese cotton work, the breeding plots will be located at the University at Nanking and expansion areas are being established at Kiangyin where the gentry have donated the use of twenty mow of land and at Shanghai where we have rented twenty mow.

"The search for superior Chinese cotton types will be limited to the fields that are already planted with selected seed.

"Special attention will be directed to investigation of insect problems; the campaign for prevention of the entrance of boll weevil; and the establishing of ways and means of checking the damage of the pink boll worm.

"In training personnel the maximum number will be given work which the fund provides and invitations are being extended to organisations to send young men to participate in the practical work paying their own expenses. A short course in cotton will be conducted during the summer at the University and a regular course throughout the year.

"Demonstration lectures will be given at schools and in communities wherever opportunity offers. The exhibit will be greatly enlarged and a set of stereoptican slides will be prepared for extension work. The literary propaganda will be continued through the press by publishing bulletins and translations. This we have found to be one of the most important phases of the work.

Civil Aviation Gains In Britain

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 14.—A report by the Air Ministry on civil aviation is issued as a Parliamentary White Paper. It says that civil aviation was at its lowest ebb in the six months up to last March, but has substantially improved since subsidies were introduced.

The developing of Imperial air routes is making progress in various respects. A site has been purchased for an aerodrome at Malta. Arrangements have been made with the Sudan Government for the upkeep of the aerodromes in its territory along the Cape to Cairo route, and a main route is to be prepared in India between Rangoon and Bombay, with intermediate aerodromes at Calcutta and Allahabad.

London, June 14.—A party of press representatives and Scotland Yard men climbed the 120 foot mooring mast at Pulham this morning and embarked on the giant commercial airship, R36. Altogether there were sixty aboard, including a crew of twenty-one.

In addition to controlling the road traffic to Ascot, the purpose of the experiment was to illustrate the facilities available for passengers by airship. A summary of the day's news was wireless to the editor of the Airship Mite which was published aboard, while the press representatives communicated with their newspapers by wireless and also dropped "copy" by parachute at Croydon.

MONTEAGLE WILL SAIL THIS MORNING

The Canadian Pacific steamer Monteagle arrived off Woosung last night, but because of the lateness of the hour no passengers either inbound or outbound were transported from the city.

There will be but one tender serving the Monteagle this voyage. Outgoing passengers and mail will be taken from the Customs jetty leaving at 7:30 o'clock this morning, and the return trip will bring inbound passengers, arriving at the jetty not before noon.

The Monteagle is taking a big mail to Canada and America. It leaves off Woosung this afternoon and is due at Vancouver July 8.

Among the 40 passengers taken from Shanghai for the Monteagle were Dr. W. H. Hudson and Mr. W. H. Hudson Jr., and Miss F. Yang, the daughter of the governor of Kiangsi province.

Shanghai College Graduation Today

The commencement exercises of the Shanghai college will be held this afternoon at 3 p.m., at the College hall. The graduating class numbers 16. The Seniors hold their Class day exercises at 10 a.m.

The afternoon program includes addresses by President P. W. Kuo, of the National Southeastern University, Rev. E. C. Lobenstine, secretary of the China Continuation committee, a harp solo by Mrs. C. H. Lavers, and a piano solo by Miss Clara Ling, with other special features. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Today's graduation class is the largest in the history of the college. Each of the 16 graduates are to receive the degree of B.A., and special diplomas will also be awarded to graduates of the academy, who also form the largest class ever finishing in the Middle School. There are 49 in this class.

In The U. S. Court For China

United States v. John Sheehan and David Duskin.

Causes Nos. 1398 and 1399. Sentence, Filed June 17, 1921.

SYLLABUS

1. Assault: Evidence. Examined and found sufficient to show that defendants were the aggressors and committed the assault charged without provocation.

2. Penalty. As defendants were members of the ship's crew and the assault was committed on an officer thereof when in performance of his duty nothing short of the maximum term of imprisonment is deemed adequate.

H. D. Rodger, Esq., Special Assistant U. S. Attorney for the prosecution.

John W. Schoenfeld, Esq., for the defendants.

Lobingier, J.

The defendants are both members of the crew of the Eastern Admiral belonging to the U.S. Shipping Board and are charged with assaulting an officer thereof "while on board the said ship and within the Admiralty jurisdiction of this Court." The testimony shows that defendant Sheehan was observed by the third officer when about to carry on shore some varnish belonging to the ship and that the complaining witness who is the second assistant engineer was ordered by said officer to follow Sheehan and recover it. A struggle ensued in the course of which injuries were inflicted upon the complaining witness and still more serious ones threatened. The chief conflict in the testimony relates to the question whether the complaining witness or defendant Sheehan struck the first blow. The former's testimony that Sheehan struck first is corroborated by the master of the vessel and by the third officer while the only witness who positively testifies to the contrary is one Connor, a member of the crew. Sheehan himself does not expressly state that the complaining witness was the first to strike although he may have meant that. But he does testify however, that he had been drinking and that he does not clearly recall all that occurred.

The complaining witness also testified that the defendant Duskin struck him severely in the stomach and this is likewise corroborated by the master and third officer while no one testifies positively to the contrary. Duskin did not take the stand. There is no claim of any provocation justifying Duskin's intervention. He seems to have gone voluntarily to Sheehan's assistance in his fight with the officer though there is testimony that Duskin had also been drinking and according to Connor's testimony was "mad drunk."

Upon this testimony we feel obliged to find that defendants were the aggressors and that even had they assailed another member of the crew under similar circumstances they would have been guilty of the offense charged. But the victim was a ship's officer acting under orders and in the performance of duty. Indeed Sheehan had invited his interference by taking the varnish and was thus an offender before the struggle began. For members of the crew to assault an officer under such circumstances is a much more serious affair than to assault some one else, for the ship's discipline is involved. No vessel could operate if a member of the crew were permitted to vent his displeasure in such a manner with impunity. The incident may not be so important in itself but it concerns the very foundation of successful navigation and the maintenance of our merchant marine. To condone such offenses is to invite disaster for both.

The case is governed by the following provision:

"Whoever shall unlawfully strike, beat, or wound another, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not more than six months, or both."

In view of its seriousness and the necessity of making examples of such cases we feel that nothing short of the maximum term of imprisonment will suffice. Each of the defendants is accordingly sentenced to six months of imprisonment to be served in Bilibid Prison, Manila, Philippines, and defendant Sheehan as the original offender is further sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00 U.S. currency with subsidiary imprisonment according to law in case of insolvency and each defendant is further sentenced to pay the costs in his own case.

By the Court,
CHARLES S. LOBINGIER,
Judge.

Mixed Bathing Boon To Tunbridge Wells

English Resort's Business Shows Marked Increase, Says Town Council

London, May 7.—The town council of Tunbridge Wells reports that mixed bathing there has greatly increased the business done by the baths and it wants more mixed bathing days. For months the council has been at grips over the question, the antis standing on the platform that it was like dancing—"a stepping stone to worse evils."

But receipts show that it is a good paying business and keeps the young folks "in the swim."

China's Export Business Slumps

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, June 13.—China's export business is falling off at a rapid rate according to recent reports and the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce has become alarmed. As a result of the poor showing, the Ministry has sent out letters to the several Chambers of Commerce, calling a special conference in Peking to discuss the situation. The Ministry believes that the Chambers can tell just what is the trouble and can also give suggestions that will increase the business.

Filipino Davis Cup Team Defaults

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 16.—The Philippine Davis Cup team has defaulted, owing to its inability to reach the United States by July 20. The Japanese team is to play at Minneapolis against the winner of the match between Belgium and Czecho-Slovakia.

Filipinos Receive Royal Welcome On Arrival In Manila

The hundred and fifty Filipino athletes, who competed so successfully in the Shanghai Far Eastern Olympics and open games May 30 to June 4, were given an official reception on their arrival at Manila on June 11.

When the little Philippine cable ship Bustamente docked at the Magallanes landing a rousing reception was given, and a monster demonstration followed. They were met by committees of sports organisations, school departments and by President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines Senate and party representing the government.

All vessels of the Shipowners Association lying in Manila bay and Pasig river were decorated as is done on official holidays and similar occasions. The Philippine Constabulary, Reformatory and other bands were at the dock for the reception and the parade.

President Quezon, who had postponed his departure for Batangas and Mindoro, so that he might be at the dock to meet the returning athletes, shook hands with each of the men as they came off the Bustamente and congratulated them.

A parade was formed from the landing to the Normal School grounds, where a program of congratulation and rejoicing was given. President Quezon presided. Speakers included Major General Leonard Wood and former Governor General W. Cameron Forbes, Mayor Fernandes of Manila, and others.

On Sunday the Philippine Columbian Association gave a smoker at its club house in honor of the Olympic champions, at which a program of speeches and vaudeville was given.

AUSTRALIANS AMASS 708 RUNS FOR 7 WICKETS

Highest Total Ever Recorded By Visitors Against County Team

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—In glorious weather and before an attendance of some 7,000 the Australians resumed their innings on a fast and perfect wicket in their match against Hampshire at Southampton today. The score which stood at 569 for five wickets overnight was brought up to 708 for seven wickets, when the Australians declared. This is the highest total ever compiled by any Australians side against any county, the previous best being 643 in a match against Sussex in 1882.

Taylor made 143 by excellent play. He gave a catch when he had only made 3 runs, but was missed. Ryder and Hendry contributed 76 and 53 respectively.

Hampshire in their first innings hit up 280 for six wickets, C. B Fry making 59. He gave a classical display, but showed only a glimpse of his former greatness. Mead in a spirited innings contributed 113, unfinished.

In a county championship match concluded today, Kent beat Worcestershire by 282 runs.

Gobs Entertain At Navy Y.M.C.A.

Last evening an entertainment was given at the Navy "Y" and the following program was rendered:

Hawaiian trio—Messrs. Awanna, Alfiere and Lanaso.

Ukelele duet—Messrs. Awanna and Leano, U.S.S. Huron.

Baritone solo—Mr. Lanasa, accompanied by Mr. Pherson, U.S.S. Broom, "I don't have to die to go to Heaven."

Ballad and duet "I'm Jealous"—Messrs. Lingle and Piersall of U.S.S. Broom, accompanied by Miss Hazel Schoub.

Solo, "I want to go to sleep and Wake up in my Mammy's arms"—Mr. Alfiere.

Monologue—Mr. Piersall, accompanied by Mr. Pherson, Solo, Mr. Lingle.

Hawaiian trio—Messrs. Awanna, Alfiere and Lansa, "Aloha Oe and "Till We Meet Again."

Following the program the orchestra of U.S.S. Huron played for dancing. Light refreshments were served. A record crowd of the sailors and their friends were in attendance.

Tonight a number of sailors will be the guests of the Community church at the Garden Party to be held at 19 Quinsan Road.

On Tuesday, June 21 there will be an excursion to Soochow under the direction of the Navy Y.M.C.A. and it is hoped that about two hundred or more will take the trip. Members of the Y.M.C.A. and others at Soochow will pilot the boys around the interesting city of Soochow.

On Friday evening, June 24 there will be a Lawn Fete for the men of the fleet at the Columbia Country Club. The affair will be in charge of ladies of the American Woman's Club and of the Overseas League.

Four Games For Weekend Planned

own. It is said by fans who are posted that the Chandler team can beat the flagship. The game between these two nines a week from today will be worth attending. The destroyers Hovey, Hart and Lea also have separate nines.

The flotilla is putting four first class teams into the coming nine days of play, a thing that would not be possible if they gave up their best men to a newly assembled fleet nine. Each draft would in all likelihood mean the ruination of the smaller ship's team.

The passing of the fleet nine has another, closer meaning to Shanghai fans. It means that Merrill will automatically drop back into a Shanghai uniform, for he is not attached to any of the ships in port, and therefore cannot be eligible to play except for Shanghai. Merrill's return to the local ranks comes at an opportune time. With Shanghai facing a stiff week of play, and only Dennison in real shape for work, Terry or Arlt or Moody all still stiff and sore out of condition would have been forced in to do a big share of the pitching.

PRACTICE YESTERDAY

The local men were out for a little work out last evening. The ball ground itself was closed to keep it smooth and in shape for today's game, but the men worked on the lawn near the dressing room. A couple of dozen new Spalding bats which came in from Manila on the Pacific Mailer Colombia on its last trip held the center of interest.

With honest coolies twirling everyone had a round of trials at the new sticks, and, when the work was finished it appeared that everyone had found a stick to his liking. There were even predictions and boasts that the spring batting slump was finished. There was promise that today's game would be a hit-fest. There was a feeling among the players that today is the day to start for the 300 season average, and they say with the new sticks they can do it.

Those "Golden" Eggs

By Mrs. Christine Frederick,
The Distinguished Authority on Household Efficiency.

VARIATIONS of the old nursery tale say that it was a goose, and again a hen, that laid the wonderful "golden eggs." But in a very real sense we can say that the hen lays "golden eggs," because a fresh egg yolk is the nearest approach to gold in color, and because eggs are very valuable as food.

If we think of foods on a sanitary basis only the egg will, along with the banana, take first prize as being the most protected food, given by nature a wonderful impervious shell or wrapping which insures its contents coming to us free from any contaminating touch or soil.

Eggs are cheap and plentiful in our markets just now and one of the approved foods to replace meat during Lent. Therefore the housewife should avail herself widely of them, understand their real nutritive values, and particularly be able to serve them in a large variety of appetizing ways.

It is difficult to make many persons believe that eggs are the equivalent of meat, but if we stop to consider that a fertile egg becomes a chicken, or meat, it is easy to see that the egg itself has meat qualities. An egg is a condensed form of protein or muscle food. The white of the egg is made of albumen, that most important substance which forms muscle or tissue and blood. The yolk is not so concentrated and contains sulphur and other mineral materials.

Eggs are often called a "complete food," and the housewife should understand that they can completely replace meat in the diet. For example, a person having two eggs would certainly need no meat or other protein food at that meal. Also if a meat is served as the main course it is dietetically wrong to serve a dessert like a custard pie or something else rich with eggs. And yet many fail to understand this and serve unbalanced meals and those which are unnecessarily expensive.

For the child up to six years of age eggs are preferable to meat as a protein or muscle food. No meat is as good for a small child as a poached, soft-boiled or "coddled" egg. Even a child of three may have one such egg per day. The active boy or growing girl needs a quantity of eggs in the diet, even in addition to meat, because the adolescent can utilize so large an amount of muscle food, since he is actually building body structure and also expending tremendous energy in play and school study.

The adult who is engaged in manual and outdoor work can also, as the phrase goes, "handle" eggs in quantity. But the sedentary or inactive adult must beware of too many eggs, because he does not need them to increase his body tissue, and his type of work does not demand the release of so much energy. He is likely to become "bilious" on a high egg diet.

It is a mistake, and one often made by Americans, to think of eggs only as a breakfast or luncheon food, whereas the European esteems them highly as a dinner dish. Unfortunately, also, we are not adept at making the most perfect egg dish—the omelet. I do not recall having eaten a really well-made omelet in any home here or in any hotel save the few that have real French chefs.

The omelet offers infinite variety to the adept cook. It is that form of serving eggs which best removes their tendency to a flat or insipid sameness. We can garnish the omelet with tomato sauce, cheese, chopped ham or meat, fish or sardines. Indeed, there is no limit to the delectable variety of the omelet. We all should "try our hands" on this dish a little more.

Incidentally, the making of an omelet is not such an art as commonly supposed. Let me say right here that the so-called double "omelet pan" is a bugbear, and it is much easier to make a large omelet in a common frying pan. The whole secret of the omelet is the folding together of the yolks and stiffly beaten whites, and also the direction of the heat. The omelet must not be cooked over too hot a flame, and to place it under the broiler of the gas oven makes the top a golden brown. Any addition, such as chopped meat or cheese, should be added before the top is browned and folded over.

But there are many other egg dishes of renown, such as the souffle or baked dish of whipped eggs and grated cheese. There seems no reason why this delectable, substantial and economical dish should be omitted from the American table. Now that our housewives have glass baking dishes it is the easiest thing in the world to whip up a souffle of four or six eggs, pour into a buttered glass dish and serve in twenty minutes as the main dinner dish.

"When you brush the hair, try to let the bristles penetrate to the scalp."
Photograph Posed by MISS ARLINE CHASE at CAMPBELL STUDIO.

The habit is to use eggs fried and creamed, and this is why we get tired of their sameness and lack of seasoning. The American man feels somewhat cheated when he sits down to a simple form of eggs, whereas the European thinks he sits down to a feast when he has before him a spicy omelet or a steaming souffle. Does it depend on the point of view or is it because the American woman does not know how to cook these dishes?

Another way in which eggs may be taken liberally is in beverages, such as malted egg milk, milk shake, milk nogg, etc. It is supposed that the uncooked egg is more digestible. It is certainly often possible to get children and others who do not like eggs to take them in this drink form when they would refuse them as usually cooked. I know one small girl of four, who otherwise could not be induced to take egg, but who just loved them in this beaten-up "soda" form, especially if she was allowed to suck it through a straw.

A cake or a dessert rich with eggs is also the equivalent of meat. The person eating a large slice of a rich sponge cake is having as much food value as if he were eating a chop. That is why eggs are such a wonderful food—they can be served in so many ways. We can always increase the food value of any dish by the addition of one or two beaten eggs, as, for example, by adding whipped eggs to soup or to cornstarch, tapioca or other pudding.

Egg salads are becoming more popular, especially in warm weather. Here again are infinite possibilities in the use of cold sliced or cut eggs with lettuce and other vegetables, in aspic jelly and so on.

Here also is an opportunity for the gentle art of garnishing which more of us would do well to practice. An egg may be served so that it resembles a work of art, or it can be so cooked and thrown on a plate that it is enough to turn the stomach. As George Ade so famously said, "It all depends!" And in this case it depends not on the egg, but on the person cooking and serving it.

The Government has kindly put together a bulletin called "Eggs and Their Uses as Food." It is known as Farmers' Bulletin No. 128 and may be secured free by writing the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

This bulletin also tells exactly how to lay away eggs in water glass for the coming Winter. This is something that thrifty housekeepers should consider if they have the space, now that eggs are cheap and plentiful. Eggs laid away at even forty cents a dozen in the Spring are cheap compared with eggs costing $1 per dozen in January. The preservation of eggs is easy, and eggs so preserved are neither dangerous nor ill-tasting, but the equal of cold-storage eggs and of many so-called "fresh" eggs.

I know that housekeepers often sigh for new foods, such as antelope steak or zebra chops or whale short ribs, but why not utilize one of nature's safest foods, brought to us in a sanitary cover, full of meat value, more than we do? The hen that lays the golden egg is the housewife's best friend, only we need to understand and appreciate her product more fully, and particularly learn to serve it in more various and more appetizing ways.

Hair Health Hints

By Lina Cavalieri,
The Most Famous Living Beauty.

WHEN the hair at the ends does not split it continues to grow, and is likely to acquire a length such as has not belonged to it before. In cutting, therefore, see to it that only the merest tips are removed with the scissors—the part that has already split in two or shows a tendency to split.

Your hair is very likely not even in length all around your head. In order to cut the tips off all around comb out your hair smoothly and evenly and proceed with the scissors.

If your hair is very zigzag do not try to make it even at one cutting, for that would perhaps involve a sacrifice. If you continue to trim the tips every few months it is likely to become even in time without cutting away too much.

To trim your hair every few months is a splendid thing as far as it goes. But it is also necessary to keep it scrupulously clean. Wash your hair at least once a month whether you think it needs it or not.

In order to be sure that the dandruff on your scalp is adequately removed massage the roots of your hair the night before washing with pure vaseline or castor oil or cocoanut oil. This will soften the dead cells or dandruff, and the water and soap will do the rest of the work.

Place in your wash basin a bit of washing soda—just a mere particle—to soften the water. In addition to this use castile soap with which to make a lather. Wash the hair thoroughly, using only the cushions of your fingers, and if more soap is needed rub it on your hands first and not on your hair. Your first water must be more than just lukewarm in order to act as a cleanser. Your rinsing water may be of a lower temperature, cold, if you like, for the Summer hair wash.

Wrap your hair in a Turkish towel and place it in a knot on your head. In about a half-hour's time remove the towel and take a chair into the sunny part of your back yard, and throw your hair strands to the sun and wind.

Let your hair hang like a curtain over you, front and back, so as to prevent sunburn and to give your scalp all possible benefit of the air and sun. The elements act like a tonic for the hair and scalp; the wind tends to the removal of makes the hair fluffy and wiry enough for you to be able to "do what you want" with it.

A thorough hair wash about once a month is not sufficient to keep the scarlet stream moving rapidly in the scalp. A dry massage with the fingers every night is also necessary.

When massaging at night use only the cushions of your fingers. Two fingers at a time can do the work well. As the fingers of one hand meet those of the other the scalp is moved about and rotated, so that the desired rapid flow of the bood-stream is secured, and this brings with it the needed food for the hair roots.

Besides a dry massage, it is well to prepare a regular shampoo for the hair every week or two. This may consist of green soap and alcohol, in the proportion of two ounces of the soap to one ounce of the alcohol. Mix this well and add one ounce of the preparation to two ounces of water. Mix again and apply with the finger tips.

You will find this preparation of special value if your hair has begun to fall either because of previous carelessness or for some other reason. In that event, it is well to wash the hair more frequently in addition to this shampoo, and to soak the scalp each time with some oil in order to soften the dirt in it. A little borax or ammonia is a good cleanser and should be applied to the scalp in the washing water every now and then.

When the falling of the hair has commenced to subside you may resume normal cleansing; that is, you may reduce the number of times for washing. Massage of your scalp, however, every night and every morning, too, if you have time, should never be omitted.

Massage, either dry or applied with a bit of vaseline or cocoanut oil, once in a while is a good way to prevent dryness of the scalp.

Use a brush on your hair once a day to remove fine particles of dirt and to make your hair smooth and shiny. Try to let the bristles penetrate to the scalp. Wash your brush and comb as often as you can.

When you put up your hair see to it that the pins do not scratch your scalp or break the hair strands. For this reason it is better to use a bone rather than a steel hairpin.

Secrets of Beauty

I WANT to reduce and am willing to omit luncheons altogether, as you advise, but I get so ravenously hungry sometimes that I "fall from grace." Can you help me?—HESTER B.

A good old-fashioned cup of sassafras tea, taken just before your lunch hour, will be found beneficial, as it satisfies that overpowering craving for food. Eating one or two pears will have the same effect, and sipping slowly a glass of cold (not iced) water will likewise aid in killing the appetite.

I AM afflicted with an oily nose which will never retain the powder for more than a few moments. How can I overcome this? —L. G. F.

I would suggest dusting your nose twice a day with this powder, which has a wholesomely drying and absorbent effect on a greasy skin:

Bicarbonate of soda	2 ounces
Pulverized orris root	1 ounce
Pulverized spermaceti	1 dram

Mix thoroughly and keep in a dry place.

IS there anything that will make the eyes sparkle all the time? —E. M.

Yes. Insanity will, but it is not desirable. If you take proper care of your eyes they will be bright and attractive looking. Don't strain them with too much artificial light and be sure you get plenty of sleep. It is well to have the eyes sparkle occasionally, when the face lights up with animation, but remember the quick-flashing eye is a soulless one. A great American poet declares that "only those eyes are beautiful which, like the planets, have a steady lambent light and are luminous but not sparkling."

WON'T you tell me what to do to develop my bust? The rest of my body is well developed and firm, but my bust is not much larger than a child's.—MRS. J. H. S.

Make a particular effort to eat nourishing food and cultivate the habit of deep breathing. Take plenty of rest and sleep. The too thin bust can be filled out even more rapidly by massaging into it nightly an emollient cream like this:

Lanolin	4 ounces
Cocoa butter	4 ounces
Glycerine	4 ounces
Elder flower water	3 ounces
Rosewater	5 ounces

PLEASE recommend some remedy for excessive perspiration.—L. R.

For a person who perspires excessively a wineglass of ammonia in the bath water every morning is a good corrective.

WHEN I am excited my voice gets loud and I talk very fast. How can I cultivate a more pleasing voice?—GRATEFUL.

Try to avoid excitement. Do not allow your feelings to run away with you. Make an effort to acquire poise in your manner and in your voice. The beauty of a voice depends largely upon its tone and modulation. You can express your meaning with much greater ease if you will speak slowly, forming each word clearly and distinctly.

CAN you tell me how to get rid of a big lump of fat on the back of my neck?—MRS. C. O.

Apply the reducing lotion given below every night before retiring. In applying use a long downward stroke of the fingers, which will help to melt this superfluous flesh into the masses of flesh on the shoulders:

Tincture of iodine	30 minims
Iodide of potassium	60 grains
Hyposulphite of soda	20 grains
Distilled water	7 ounces
Aniseed water	170 minims

WON'T you please tell me of some sure way to make my face, neck and hands beautifully white and soft?—ANXIOUS.

Frequent daily baths with this preparation will whiten the skin very quickly:

Glycerine	1 ounce
Rosewater	1 ounce
Carbolic acid	10 drops
Tincture of benzoin	10 drops

Another simple treatment which you may find helpful is to squeeze the juice of half a lemon into a small tumbler of water, and with this bathe the face, neck and hands many times daily.

MY hair is so difficult for me to arrange becomingly. It is not only thin, but excessively oily. Please advise me.—S. G. T.

Thin and oily hair, that becomes such a difficult feminine problem at times, may be greatly improved by the faithful tri-weekly use of the following compound:

Carbonate of ammonia	20 grains
Tincture of cantharides	1 dram
Alcohol	½ ounce

Mix these ingredients well and add enough bay rum to make four ounces of the compound.

How to Get Shoes That Fit

IT seems almost a universal weakness to pinch the feet. Women are not by any means the only guilty ones; men are nearly as bad.

The best way to get a perfectly fitting shoe is to stand as soldiers do, says a writer in Critic and Guide. Our fitters are not all equipped with such an exact measuring apparatus as is used in the army, but at least pencil and paper are always procurable. The pattern of our feet can be marked accurately enough for all practical purposes.

Throw your entire weight on the foot being measured, lift the heel slightly, be sure that diagram covers all expansion that results from your walking. Demand a shoe that covers this outline—with this further consideration, that if from compression your great toe is bent inward the shape of the shoe must allow for its restoration to the normal position.

A line representing the axis of the great toe should pass through the centre of the heel, and this shows the danger of a shoe that presses the great toe inward. Of recent years several correct models of shoes have been placed upon the market; the main trouble is that we do not take the time to find them.

Tight, ill-fitting stockings do much harm. A hard, unyielding texture compresses the toes much as does a too tight shoe. For ordinary purposes it is well to have the stockings half a size too large. Have no fear about the wrinkles. If you are on your feet much the normal swelling of the feet will smooth them cut.

Lisle stockings are not so desirable as silk; the latter allow free evaporation so that the feet remain dry. The life of hosiery may be prolonged and additional comfort given the feet by making it a rule always to have the shoes well opened when they are drawn on. Partially laced or buttoned shoes drag the stockings out of place and strain the thread.

The results of abusing the feet are not confined to the extremities. The general health and the temper suffer. Mark Twain cited the one virtue of painful feet when he said that they made one forget all his other troubles.

Flat-foot, caused by a sagging of the arch, is a serious, far-reaching complaint. It is a frequent cause of backache, headache and many nervous troubles. Many persons have spent hundreds of dollars to cure rheumatism of the feet, only to learn in the end that the trouble was flat-foot.

The position of the foot on the ground is important. A foot that "toes out" is constantly tending to flatten. The inside of the arch that crosses the foot is not strongly supported, so when the leg is allowed to rotate, throwing the weight on the inside of the foot, the muscles and ligaments gradually weaken and let the arch bones down.

Prolonged standing and a lowered state of the general health are frequent causes, but I believe the main one is "toeing out." Logically, the essential measure in treatment is to reform the walk. Set the foot straight forward, as do the Indians. Better err in the direction of "pigeon toe" than to toe out. In fact, to walk "pigeon toe" for a few moments each day is of benefit.

An exercise that is of considerable help to the sufferer is to walk a crack in the floor while holding the heels an inch or so off the floor. If the feet are not too sore it is helpful to roll them inward as far as you can and walk a few moments on the outer edge of the feet.

Household Helps

Boiling Potatoes.

POTATOES have a much better flavor if cooked in an iron pot.

Apple Tarts.

USE apple juice and sugar cooked with a little lemon juice to coat the apples used in a tart.

A Delicious Flavor.

THE Japanese sauce or catsup made from the black soy bean is excellent for flavoring gravies, soups, etc.

When Eggs Are High.

TAKE 2 eggs, a cup of milk and a cup of cold cereal, and beat them all together. Put a tablespoonful of butterine in a frying pan, and turn the mixture in, seasoning with salt and pepper. Stir until it is creamy and serve hot as a breakfast dish.

Meat Sauce Recipes

By Mary Lee Swann,
The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Bechamel Sauce.

MELT ¼ cup butter, add ¼ cup flour and blend well. Add 1 cup chicken stock and stir constantly until smooth and creamy. Add 1 cup cream and heat over hot water, stirring frequently. Just before serving stir in 2 egg yolks diluted with 2 tablespoons cream.

Green Pepper Sauce.

REMOVE seeds and tough portions from 3 green peppers. Chop peppers very fine and fry until soft in ¼ cup butter. Add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 2 cups milk and stir constantly until smooth and thick. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Caper Sauce.

MELT 4 tablespoons butter and add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1 cup hot water and stir until smooth. Add ½ teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper. Add ¼ cup capers, chopped slightly, and 1 tablespoon caper juice. Pickled nasturtium seed may be used instead of the capers. Serve with mutton.

Celery Sauce.

MELT 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1 cup chicken stock and stir constantly until smooth and creamy. Add ½ cup celery liquor and ½ cup cream. When hot add ¼ cup minced cooked celery, ½ teaspoon salt and a dash of paprika. A pinch of finely chopped parsley may be added if desired. Serve with poultry.

Mushroom Sauce.

MELT 2 tablespoons butter. Add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon finely chopped carrot, 1 small sprig of parsley, 1 small thyme leaf and a pinch of bay leaf, and cook until well browned, stirring constantly. Add 3 tablespoons sifted flour and continue stirring until flour is well browned. Add 1 cup of brown stock or 1 cup of water in which 1 or 2 bouillon cubes have been dissolved, and stir until thick. Strain and add ½ cup mushrooms which have been cooked in a little butter. Serve with beefsteak or beef balls.

Onion Sauce.

BLEND 1½ tablespoons flour with ½ cup butter. Add gradually 2 cups scalded milk and stir constantly until smooth and thick. Add 4 boiled onions, finely chopped, and salt and pepper to taste. Serve with veal, mutton or poultry.

Mint Sauce.

WASH and drain fresh young mint leaves and chop very fine. Put in a mixing bowl, add 1 teaspoon sugar to each 2 tablespoons of mint, mix well and set aside for a few minutes. Add 3 tablespoons good mild vinegar. Let stand a half hour or longer before straining. Serve with roast lamb.

Tomato Sauce.

MELT 4 tablespoons drippings, add ¼ cup flour and blend well. Add 1 cup brown stock and 1 cup strained cooked tomatoes. Stir constantly until smooth and thick. Season to taste with salt and pepper and add ½ teaspoon sugar. Place ½ teaspoon mixed spice in a small spice bag and heat in the brown stock. Remove bag before serving.

Olive Sauce.

MELT 2 tablespoons butter or drippings. Add 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion, a small piece of bay leaf and 1 clove, and cook until onion is soft, stirring constantly. Remove bay leaf and clove and add 2½ tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 2 cups brown stock and stir until smooth and thick. Add 6 tablespoons thinly sliced stuffed olives. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Ripe olives may be substituted for the stuffed ones.

Bernaise Sauce.

COOK 2 tablespoons finely chopped shallot in 2 tablespoons vinegar until the vinegar is nearly absorbed. Add 3 egg yolks and 2 tablespoons butter and stir until smooth and creamy. Add 2 tablespoons butter and continue cooking over hot water (not boiling water) until thick again. Add 2 tablespoons butter and stir until thick, season with a few grains cayenne pepper, 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley and ½ teaspoon finely chopped tarragon.

LONDON DEALERS TRICKED BY BOGUS JAPANESE PEARLS

Jewellers Dismayed By Exposure Of Huge Fraud In Importations

DISCOVERY BY WORKMAN

Bead Inserted In Flesh Of Oyster Soon Covered By Thin Pearl Film

London, May 7.—London jewellers have been dismayed by the exposure of a huge pearl fraud. It was accidentally discovered that thousands of pounds sterling had been flung away in the purchase of worthless faked Japanese importations. How long the imitations have been coming to England and how many are in existence is unknown, and this is causing something approaching a panic in Hatton Garden among the big jewellers.

The faked jewels are so perfect that they withstand all ordinary tests. Like Oriental pearls, these imitations have been sent to Britain already pierced. The discovery was made when a workman in one of the big jewelry shops was making a necklace out of pearls bought for £10,000. He found that one of the pierced holes was not large enough for the string, and so he tried to enlarge it. In so doing he chipped a piece out of the pearl, revealing a small mother of pearl bead inside a coating of pearl film.

London jewellers state that the fake is a product of eight or ten years of work spent in the development of Japanese pearl culture and industry and has been brought to perfection. The system is to catch oysters and by a surgical operation insert a mother of pearl bead in the flesh of the oyster which is then returned to its bed. After two months the oysters are recaught, by which time the mother of pearl bead is found to be covered with a thin pearl film deposited by the oyster. The imitations are the same in weight, size and color as Oriental pearls, and when tested with the teeth they grit and grate like the genuine ones.

Secret meetings have been held among London jewellers who are faced with the difficulty of discovering a harmless test by which the fakes can be found without injuring genuine pearls. It has also been proposed to the Board of Trade that the importation of pearls be suspended until an effective test has been discovered.

It is probable that a number of legal contests in the courts may result from this discovery, as the difference in value between a genuine and a fake pearl is in about the same relation as a dollar to a cent. The discovery of the fraud was made last week, but was kept secret until today and is now causing a flutter among society people who have been recent purchasers.

DRUG DEALERS IN TAIYUANFU DO THRIVING TRADE

Traders In Shansi Province Protected By Soldiers

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Taiyuanfu, June 12.—The new Engineering block of the Shansi University is rapidly approaching completion. Designed and erected under the supervision of Mr. Frank Aust, B. Sc., Professor of Engineering in the University, the new building is a handsome and valuable addition to the existing institution. It has a frontage of 270 feet and is 70 feet wide. There are two floors and a basement. The building contains a fine central hall, from which a double staircase leads to the upper floor. The turreted clock-tower holds a large tank for water-supply. On the lower floor there are eight large, well-lighted laboratories, a lecture-room and a museum, in addition to well-planned accommodation for the office staff. The total cost of the building is about $55,000.

The students of all grades of schools in the city have declared a strike in sympathy with their comrades in Peking and, as this kind of thing is very infectious; doubtless we shall be hearing soon that all the students in Shansi have downed pens and books and joined the general movement.

Dealers in morphia in the province are getting bolder and more lawless. Bags of morphia pills are conveyed from place to place under armed escort and the local police seem powerless to stop their traffic. Last week a detective of the Anti-Narcotic Society was badly wounded in an attempt to arrest a seller of the drug, and two policemen who accompanied him were also badly mauled. Many of the dealers in morphia are disbanded soldiers and, unless stern measures are taken to suppress these armed criminals, one fears that the long-established peace of Shansi may be rudely disturbed.

Constable's Kick Ends Dream Of China Trip

Old Tar Lands In Court, Not Port, As A Result; Gets A Bath

London, May 7.—A constable's kick dispelled the wonderful dreams of Charles Smith, an American mariner, eighty years old, who was slumbering peacefully on a Hempstead lawn at midnight. When he was charged in court with wandering about without visible means of support he said:

When the constable woke me I was on a voyage to China which I made fifty years ago. We were buffeting the cresty waves an when I awakened I thought th ship had struck a rock."

When asked whether he hac friends in Britain he replied "Sure. Every old sailor is friend of mine. I'm just a littl out of my course and do not mee many friends at this latitude."

Smith was remanded to be thoroughly cleansed and the was advised to enter the work house.

FIGHT MADE FOR GOLDEN FLEECE

Belgian And Austrian Claims Go Before Reparations Commission

Vienna, May 7.—Much interesting history is connected with the fight for the Golden Fleece which at the instigation of Belgium is about to be renewed in Paris before a special jury of three representing the Reparations Commission.

Under the terms of the treaty of St. Germain Belgium claims the treasure proper of the Order of the Golden Fleece, founded in 1430 by Philip the Good, Duke of Burgundy, who then resigned over the greater part of modern Belgium as well as other extensive territories in the Netherlands and France. The treasure now in Vienna, consists of gold smiths' work, collars, insignia and decorations preserved formerly in the Court Chapel at Brussels, and also arms, tapestry, javelins, etc., bearing the arms of the order.

Belgium also claims the surrender of Rubens's famous painting, the "Triptych of Sainte Ildefonso," which was purchased and brought to Vienna in 1777 from the Abbey of St. Jacques Coudenhove, as well as other arms, equipment and documents taken from the arsenal in Brussels to Vienna in 1794 and the original manuscripts which served General de Ferraris for the Carte Chorographique of the Austrian Netherlands between 1770 and 1777.

In 1477 the sovereignty of the order, which is dedicated to Our Lady and St. Andrew, the patron saint of the Duke of Burgundy passed by marriage to the house of Hapsburg. It became attached to the Crown of Spain, which for many years retained Belgium.

The male line of the Spanish Hapsburgs came to an end in 1700, upon which the Austrian branch of the family claimed the order, while the Bourbons reigning in Madrid have conferred it as Kings of Spain.

The fight for this Golden Fleece however, promises to be less strenuous than the one in the days of Jason, for both sides have agreed to accept the findings of the jury.

CUT PRICES OR GO TO WALL, IS EDICT TO SHOPS IN PARIS

Jail Sentences And Fines For Butchers Who Overcharge Customers

FOOD MINISTER IS FIRM

Bakers Say U. S. And Canada Wheat Cannot Be Used If Law Is Obeyed

Paris, May 7.—"Cut your prices or go to the wall" is the warning that M. Paisant, of the Food Ministry here, has sent to Paris butchers. Today the same warning was repeated to bakers, and in the next few days it will be received by clothing dealers.

M. Paisant has taken a firm stand in this matter, and the butchers' syndicate was unable to make him change his mind, although its members threatened to close their shops if he insisted upon the schedule of prices fixed by the Ministry after conferences with the butchers themselves.

The Government has authorised the placing of special inspectors in all butcher shops, thus putting meat supplies under Government control, but unlike the war time system—to the advantage of consumers. In the first week that these inspectors were in the shops more than 300 butchers were prosecuted for violating the new price list or for selling second grade meat at prices allowed to be charged for only the best cuts.

In most cases each fine was accompanied by a sentence of a week in prison, but these were suspended in the cases of first offenders, the Judges pointing out that on a second conviction there would be imposed fines double those originally assessed and prison sentences of six months.

Bakers here have already signified their willingness to make their prices meet the public's purse, at the same time pleading that this is only possible if the Government buys wheat from Rumania or other countries with depreciated exchange instead of in the United States and Canada, where the franc is depreciated. Bakeries, especially the small family establishments where the proprietors themselves do most of the work after midnight, insist that the law prohibiting night work must be abrogated for the public benefit.

Sunday Special Leaves Shanghai North for Henli, Kunshan, Soochow and Wusih as under:

Up train			Down train
Shanghai North	dep.	8.20 a.m.	Wusih	dep.	17.20 p.m.
Henli	arr.	9.24 ,,	Soochow	,,	18.15 ,,
Kunshan	,,	9.34 ,,	Kunshan	,,	18.35 ,,
Soochow	,,	10.28 ,,	Henli	,,	19.13 ,,
Wusih	,,	11.23 ,,	Shanghai North	arr.	20.10 ,,

Return Fares Including Famine Relief Tax.

	I class	II class	III class
Shanghai-Henli	$3.40	$1.80	$0.90
Shanghai-Kunshan	3.40	1.80	0.90
Shanghai-Soochow	5.40	2.90	1.60
Shanghai-Wusih	7.40	4.10	2.10

Breakfast is served on the outward journey, tiffin can be ordered on the car in the Railway siding at Henli, and dinner is obtainable on the train during the return trip. Breakfast 75 cents, tiffin $1.50 and dinner $1.50 each.

This excursion affords an excellent opportunity of getting away from town for a day into the beautiful country-side during the best period of the year.

The 10 hours at Henli give ample time for rowing, swimming, or houseboat enjoyment.

At Kunshan the 9½ hours can be enjoyably spent in visiting the Gardens and Pagodas. The latter stand on the summit of Kunshan Hill, inside the city walls and can be reached in half an hour by rickshaws or by walking through the city from Kunshan station.

Soochow is noted for the well kept Private Gardens and also Tiger Hill with its Pagoda on the top, and 8 hours between the arrival and departure of the Sunday Special can be well spent in seeing these places. The city temple and silk shops inside the city are also well worth a visit. There are several Hotels at Soochow, at which foreign food is served.

Wusih city is a great silk center, and the 6 hours before the train is due to return can be filled by taking a trip to Wei Hill, two miles from Wusih Station, which can be easily reached by rickshaw, sedan chair or boat in the course of an hour. Those who climb to the top of the Hill will be rewarded with a magnificent view of Wusih city, and the Great Ta Hu Lake.

Time-tables and copies of illustrated pamphlets giving full information in regard to the above, and other points of interest can be obtained on application at the Enquiry Office Shanghai North. Seats on the train can be reserved by telephoning North 3199.

Acting Traffic Manager,
Shanghai North Station.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 17, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 3/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 58 cents and the London-New York cross rate to 377¼. The official rates here today were uncharged from yesterday with the exception of the Franc rate which was dropped to 785.

The market was firm throughout the day, particularly in the morning when at one time business in Sterling was done as high as 3/5⅞ and in Gold Dollars at 66. Later in the day rates eased off somewhat and business in Stering was done at 3/6½ and in Gold Dollars at 65¾.

The market closed firm with sellers at these rates or slightly better. The Continent is reported to have again sold silver in London yesterday and the market there seems steady and quiet at the present level.

Cotton

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton market report of today.

China Cotton:—Our market during the past week may be said to have been quiet with fluctuations confined within narrow limits and notwithstanding the absence of any voluminous demand prices remain steady at the close being stimulated by the increasing strength in Indians and the continued favorable yarn situation.

The incessant rainy weather which is now being experienced is unfavorably affecting the new crop and while the damage done may not be considered serious at this stage the fact of any recovery by replanting being past the season may later show a decrease in the expected outturn but to what extent such may be realised is as yet too early in the season to foretell.

Stocks of the old crop do not appear to be as heavy as at this time last year and besides about half of the quantity is of an inferior grade so that the indications are that prices will rule more or less at the present level until further developments of the new crop will modify the rates either one way or the other. Tone of the market, Steady.

Gay Moulin Rouge In Paris To Be Restored

Effort To See That Montmartre Again Becomes Center Of Night Life

Paris, May 7.—The famous Moulin Rouge, the burning of which before the war marked the beginning of Montmartre's downfall as a center of gaiety, is to be restored, possibly before the end of this summer. But there is still some doubt as to whether the theater itself is to be resumed, at least this year, as the owners of the property are understood to prefer to use the building for a more profitable purpose.

It is known, however, that American dance hall managers have been negotiating for the use of the great basement, and although the deal has not yet been officially approved, the work of redecorating the underground portions of the structure has already commenced.

It is believed that as soon as the dancing is resumed the Montmartre district's center of gravity, or, rather, lack of gravity, will return from the Place Pigalle to the Place Blanche. It is even suggested that the theater itself might be quickly rehabilitated to accommodate movies. If this rumor is true, the Red Mill would vie in importance with the Paris Opera, where negotiations are reported to have been almost concluded for the use of the gilded theater for cinema teas on afternoons when no operatic matinees are billed.

An Untimely Proposal

(New York Times)

IN his speech upon the Naval Appropriations bill in the Senate on Tuesday, Mr. King of Utah said of the three-year program:

In my opinion the five battleships which are approaching completion should be finished. Work upon the remaining battleships, six in number, should be at once discontinued. One [battle] cruiser should be completed, but the construction of the remaining five should be suspended, if not wholly discontinued.

One of the battleships approaching completion, the California, does not come under the designation of the three-year program. She is a 14-inch-gun ship. All the sixteen vessels of the three-year program will carry main batteries of 16-inch guns. The six battleships on which Senator King would nave construction stop and the six battle cruisers, of which he would have but one finished, are as he says, superior to any units in the British and Japanese navies. Great Britain's most formidable battleships are the five Queen Elizabeths of 27,500 tons, carrying eight 15-inch guns, and the five Royal Sovereigns of 25,750 tons with similar main batteries. These British superdreadnoughts are of less displacement than the American Pennsylvania, Arizona, Mississippi, New Mexico, Idaho, Tennessee and California, the last not yet in commission, but all the American ships carry twelve 14-inch guns, as compared with the eight 15-inch guns of the British. In gun range and in speed the British have an advantage. Considering, however, that the American dreadnoughts carry twelve main battery guns to eight mounted by the British, the American inferiority in fighting power may be regarded as more technical than real, especially as our constructors have paid greater attention to armor protection. But there can be no doubt that the American Maryland, Colorado, Washington and West Virginia of 32,000 tons approximately, which will carry eight 16-inch guns, will be superior to the Queen Elizabeths and Royal Sovereigns of the British Navy.

As to the six American superdreadnoughts of the South Dakota type, on which Senator King would suspend construction, they cannot, of course, be matched, as he says, by any ships of the British Navy in commission—or planned, it may be added. The American ships are designed to have a displacement of 43,000 tons and they will carry twelve 16-inch guns. The average state of completion of this group is 15.53 percent. As to Japan, she has no such vessels under construction, but in the battleships Nagato (recently completed), Mutsu (almost completed), and the Kaga and Tosa (laid down in January, 1920) she has four superdreadnoughts that may be compared with the four American Marylands, for the Japanese ships will also carry eight 16-inch guns.

It is to be noted that the Nagato and Mutsu, which will be two knots faster, are reported to be nearer commission than any ships of the corresponding American group. From Geneva now comes the announcement that Japan has declined the proposal of the Assembly of the League of Nations that the nations agree not to increase their armies and navies for two years. "The moment has not yet come," says the Japanese reply, "when Japan can afford to adopt it." Such being the case, Mr. King is not likely to find much support in the Senate for his plan to suspend construction upon the second group of battleships of the three-year program and to finish but one battle cruiser.

A romantic fact in connection with the recent appointment of Sir Alfred Tristram Lawrence as Lord Chief Justice of England is that Mr. Lloyd George, when practising as a solicitor, briefed Mr. Lawrence (as he then was) in the first important case in which the future Prime Minister was concerned.

This was more than thirty years ago, when the new L.C.J. was known at the Law Courts as "Judicious Alfred," because of his patience and impartiality.

The most famous criminal case with which Sir Alfred's name is associated was the prosecution of Mrs. Dyer, the baby "farmer," who was sentenced to death in May, 1896.

EARNING A LIVING

A keen golfer, fisherman, and horseman, the new Lord Chief Justice has great sense of humour.

The following conversation took place between Sir Alfred Lawrence and a prisoner on trial for horse-stealing.

Mr. Justice Lawrence: "Why did you steal the horse?"

Prisoner: "To earn my livin'."

Judge: "Bad way of earning your living, isn't it?"

Prisoner: "Must do something."

Judge: "So you must. Try six months' hard labor."

ROMANCES OF THE L.C.J.

The Lord Chief Justiceship of England has a history nine hundred years old.

The office of Chief Justiciar, as it was first called, was introduced from Normandy by William the Conqueror. A central tribunal was established for the whole of England; the great State Officers were the judges and the Chief Justiciar presided over them all.

The holder of this office was the next man in the kingdom to the Sovereign; he had precedence over all the nobility, and apparently acted as Regent during the King's absence abroad.

AT LAW AND WAR

This pre-eminence lasted for about two centuries, when the remodelling of England's judicial system considerably reduced the power of the Justiciar.

The first Chief Justiciar was a man named Odo; he came into office in 1066. Odo combined the qualities of soldier, priest, and lawyer; he fought at the Battle of Hastings, and his valor in this fight is depicted on the famous Bayeux tapestry. Another soldier Justiciar was Glanville, who went to the Crusades and was killed at the siege of Acre.

There is one curious instance of a King of England having been Lord Chief Justice: Henry II. held the office during the reign of Stephen, and succeeded to the throne on that Sovereign's death.

In the reign of Henry IV. Sir William Gascoigne was Chief Justice. He is the hero of a story of the youth of Henry V. The Prince of Wales, as he then was, enraged at the conviction of a friend, struck Gascoigne and was promptly committed by the courageous judge for contempt. This is an early example of that judicial impartiality of which modern England is so proud.

The stormy days of the Stuarts produced great Chief Justices in Coke and Matthew Hale, while among later famous names are Lords Mansfield and Ellenborough.

JUSTICE JEFFREYS

It is curious to note that history affords more than one example of Chief Justices whose honor and character were by no means above reproach. Thus we find two early Justiciars—De Weyland and Thorpe—charged with bribery and dishonest practices. There are others, but all fade into insignificance before the sinister figure of Chief Justice Jeffreys, infamous through the "Bloody Assizes" in James II.'s reign.

There are few figures more terrible than that of this bloodthirsty scoundrel, who sent batches of innocent and guilty alike to the scaffold. Before his own miserable death in the Tower, he rose to be Lord Chancellor of England.

Another formidable Chief Justice was one Scrogge, who flourished under Charles II. He was eventually "dismissed" from his office after being impeached "by reason of his profane and atheistical discourses," his frequent and notorious excesses and debaucheries, which do affront the Almighty and give countenance to all manner of evil."

£8,000 A YEAR SALARY

It is a relief to pass from such records to the great names of more modern and gentler days. Among more recent Lord Chief Justices the names of Russell of Killowen, Coleridge, and Alverstone are still fresh in the minds of many. They were men who maintained the highest traditions of their office.

Such is a brief history of the Lord Chief Justiceship, the holder of which, though debarred from a seat in the Cabinet, enjoys the solid compensations of the Presidency of the King's Bench Division, a peerage, and salary of £8,000 a year.

Correspondence

HONGKONG FOOT

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—Somebody always is coming forward with reasons why we should pay high prices for what we eat and what we wear. The suggestion has been made that we wear no shoes except those of foreign make. I regard this as very fine for the dealers in foreign made shoes, but unfair to the local manfacturers of shoes and expensive to me and every other person who wears shoes.

I buy my shoes from a reputable local concern which makes them from American leather on American-made lasts and at one-half the price of imported shoes.

Of course, if you buy Chinese-made shoes from peddlers or in insanitary shops there is a danger of contracting Hongkong Foot, but here is another instance where money can be saved by using a little common sense.

When they tell me to pay high prices for products, I must be shown. Yours etc.,

MISSOURIAN.

An Open Letter To The Shanghai Municipal Council

Gentlemen: I think you are right in taking strong exception to the language of my "Open Letter" to Mr. Godfrey, Commissioner of Public Works. I have erred. Feeling strongly, I wrote strongly.

The impending destruction and the urgency of doing something, single-handed as I was, to arouse the dead-weight of Public inertia, and indifference, led me into doing a personal wrong.

I attacked the Commissioner because, seeing his name on the official plan of this scheme of destruction, I assumed that he was responsible for it.

It was in this political sense therefore that I went for what I regarded as the real kernel of the terribly hard nut I was determined to crack.

You, Gentlemen, as you rightly point out, are, after all, the shell which shields the kernel.

To Mr. Chas. H. Godfrey I express my sincere regret for the terms I used which were offensive to him.

I am able to do this with sincerity because of a graceful personal circumstance which has occurred:

I called on the Commissioner the day my attack appeared, to beg him to spare a certain tree which was in imminent danger of destruction, until Public opinion could have time to manifest itself.

Mr. Godfrey immediately gave instructions to hold things up.

That touched me exceedingly because I, who asked him, was the man who had assailed him as Commissioner on this most urgent and unhappy matter.

Mr. Godfrey will understand, I am sure, that in making this graceful act of his known, it is with a particular feeling of sincerity, therefore, that I beg his pardon for the hard things I have said.

I have done a little Wrong, Gentlemen, in striving to accomplish a great Right.

MR. EDISON'S QUESTIONS

What Other Business Men Think Of College Educations As They Affect The Workaday World

(New York Times)

Inquiries among New York business men, both college alumni and those who have worked their way up without higher education, have not disclosed anybody with Thomas A. Edison's extreme hostility to the advantages of advanced academic training. Criticism of university and college methods is plentiful, but probably few employers of large experience could be found holding the view that the collegian is a sure failure.

Frank Hedley, President and General Manager of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, was one of the corporation heads whose opinion of the Edison questions and theories was sought recently. Mr. Hedley is not a college man. He began work as a machinist in the New York Central shops, studying engineering on the side, and yet he said:

"I think it's easier to get a technical education in college than in the shops."

The Interborough Company employs numbers of college men, engineers of various kinds. They are in the construction department and the power plants. The traffic superintendence branch is filled for the most part with men who have not been to college. The college men and the other beginners start at the bottom and have a chance to work up. Mr. Hedley hasn't any use for the college graduate who is unwilling to take a job at the bottom.

He recalled a speech he had made at a recent meeting of the Cornell Society of Engineers, composed of college graduates, in part as follows:

"After you get your college education, that is the time for you to go out and start. Now there are a great many boys, and I know because I have run up against them in my time, that come away from college thinking they are all finished, and all they have to do is to go right down there and get a job. 'I've got my technical education and can handle anything.'

"Now, I make the statement that when a boy comes out with a complete, a perfect, college education, or technical training, then from that on he has got to start. He has a tremendous lead on the fellow that did not have that education, but he wants to go very slowly and gather up information from day to day, because it is gathering that information after he comes out of college, together with what he acquired when he was in college, that is going to determine whether that man is going to be a success or a failure. He is not a success because he has a college education. There are many men who have not had that education that have been successful."

COLLEGE MEN IMPORTANT

Louis Stern, merchant, said he did not think the Edison questionnaire valuable for the purpose for which it was designed; but Mr. Edison had the right idea behind it—that there was something the matter with college men.

"To put it concisely," he explained, "the college men got used to having a good time, and so are impatient with drudgery. They come out feeling too big to begin low enough down in the business scale to get a good grasp of details. I'd rather take a boy of 15 or 16, and start him at the bottom and let him work up. In the long run he will beat the college man who starts above him."

Mr. Stern never asks a candidate for position whether or not he is a college man.

"A touch of divine discontent is probably the best thing a boy gets from college," he remarked. "This keeps him from falling too low in the scale. You mention a window washer who has a degree. Well, my opinion is that he won't be a window washer long."

George H. Minor, Vice President of the Erie Railroad, expressed the opinion that the test might be good for third assistant file clerk.

"No man who has anything important to do has time to remember a multitude of extraneous facts," he continued. "This test is just a fad of Mr. Edison's. It sounds as though he had gone rummaging in his mental attic and pulled out a lot of odds and ends of information that he had stored up there and forgotten. Now he says no other attic is well-stored that lacks the identical pieces. It is more valuable to know what a man's experience has been than whether he knows what prunes are. One might perhaps give the test to an office boy, but only to keep him out of mischief.

EDUCATION & BACKGROUND

"The question raised by this test is 'What is education?' The educated man is the one who thinks for himself, who has a wide background from which to reason, whose head is not necessarily stored with miscellaneous information, but knows how to get that information when he wants it.

"Start a college-trained man and a 'job-trained' man in the same position. At first the boy who has grown up in the job will get along faster, because he knows the detail, but in the long run the college man will win, because he has wider preparation. This is assuming that the two men are of the same calibre. Occasionally a man who has never been to college will get the equivalent of education by plugging at books and because of his natural brilliance. It is impossible to keep such a man down.

"In a railroad like the Erie many of the executives have come up through the operating department and have not been to college. Our President, Frederick D. Underwood, started as a brakeman. Most of the men in the legal and engineering departments are college-trained, and the holders of the highest positions in the operation department are college men.

"The case against the non-college graduate seems to be that he lacks a broad viewpoint. He will see the problem of his own department clearly, but he won't see how it affects other departments. For instance, a man in the operating department may advocate some change which has insuperable legal drawbacks. Then too, the man who has not been to college is more apt to lack polish, and to be harder to get along with than the college man, and he is not so interesting outside his job.

"The college man sometimes has a champagne appetite that gets him into trouble with his beer pocketbook. The biggest obstacle in the college man's way, however, is inside his own head. He may think a classical education has equipped him to do anything he has a mind to try—outside a technical job. Actually, the only thing he is fitted for is to talk. He has a good foundation and absolutely no technique."

An official of one of the largest public service corporations, a concern which employs thousands of college graduates and highly trained scientists, defended Mr. Edison's idea.

"When I first read this questionnaire," he said, "I realised that Mr. Edison was in for a lot

"WESTMINSTER SPECIALS."

There were two great ladies, rivals in Society.

One fell ill and was told that the other had called to inquire after her.

"If the Countess calls again," said the sick Lady B., "show her into my room."

"If I am alive I shall be glad to see her: if I am dead I am sure she will be glad to see me."

A lady expatiating about the beauty of an infant said:—

"Really I cannot find words to convey to you even a faint idea of its pretty way."

"I see," replied her friend, "it is a child more easily conceived than described."

It is a pleasure to describe
WESTMINSTER "SPECIALS."
It is a greater pleasure to smoke them!

Mr. Edison's Questions

of ridicule. But it's a mistake to belittle one of the greatest minds of the generation. Personally, I don't think Mr. Edison is as serious about this test as the newspapers make out. I doubt that any man living could answer all those questions correctly at first sight, and failure to pass the 'examination' certainly does not argue incapacity in a man's chosen profession.

"What the test stands for is a retentive memory, curiosity about this world we live in and powers of obesrvation. The man who passes that test sees what goes on around him, hears what goes on in other parts of the world and remembers what he hears and sees. He is alive."

The public service man regarded college as a much surer advantage for girls than for boys.

"It doesn't make girls snobbish," he said, "and it doesn't destroy the maternal instinct. I hate to think of the time wasted in men's colleges! For professional men, scientists, engineers, lawyers, the equivalent of a college education is essential. The man who really studies the liberal arts, who has four years to examine the history, the literature, the art, the languages and philosophy of the world, to turn the world over in his mind, as it were, gets something immensely valuable. But how many fool fathers send their sons to the college at which they themselves wasted four years, for purely sentimental reasons, to give them 'four years of fun' before they emerge into the cold, hard world—where, presumably, no fun is to be had!"

Dr. Ernest Crandall, director of lectures and visual instruction of the New York City Board of Education, said:

"Mr. Edison is right in his view that the system of education—that is, the attempt by teachers to impart information by simply telling it to the children—is not adequate. But it is not true that the school has failed to recognise this source of weakness, and it is true that the appeal to the ear, the eye and even the sense of touch has been growing, like everything else.

"This matter of visual instruction began with the use of slides—we might say it began with the increased use of maps and charts and that sort of thing in the old-fashioned schoolroom which had scarcely any equipment. Of course, it is only within the last very few years that motion pictures have come in to take their place, but they are being used now. It is an expensive proposition, and consequently we have to go slow.

"In New York we are making an attempt to hook up the motion picture with classroom instruction. Not much more has been attempted heretofore than to get together pictures that are informational and instructional and give them in assembly program, instead of simply giving assembly programs that are entertaining and amusing. Now we are working out regular picture courses in various subjects—for example, in elementary biography and in geography. We are this very week putting into ten schools some films adapted to teaching correct methods in physical training.

"Another committee is mapping out a course in domestic science, and when we say course we mean that the pictures will be the heart and soul of the course, and not just a part. The course will be built around pictures. The teacher's task after that is to get the pupils' reaction after they see the picture and link it up with their life experience in such a way as to make it vital.

"That cannot all be done in a minute. Mr. Edison himself could not do it in a minute, nor in a year."

A challenge to Mr. Edison's statements that educators fail to appreciate the value of motion pictures comes from Harry Levey, President of the recently organised National Non-Theatrical Motion Pictures, Inc., engaged in the distribution of educational films.

"Schools in all parts of the country have motion-picture equipment installed and are using motion pictures to supplement their courses of study," he said.

"Mr. Edison asks, among his questions, where the finest cotton grows, who invented the cotton gin, where we get wool, and what country produces the most textiles. The answers can be found in the film "From Cacti to Cotton," in the United States Department of Agriculture films on cotton and wool, and in the cotton and wool series distributed by the extension departments of the Universities of California and Wisconsin, and in the Amoskeag films on cotton and wool. What he wants to know about china and crockery can best be found in such films as 'The Potter's Wheel,' distributed by the University of Wisconsin. 'The Making of Pottery,' at University of California, and similar subjects in the weekly of Mr. Edison's friend, Mr. Henry Ford. Many other questions asked by Mr. Edison are answered by the film."

Far East News Notes

JAPAN BANKS TO ADVANCE TWO MILLION TO C. E. RWY

Tokio, June 7.—With regard to the loan concluded some time ago between the group of Japanese bankers and the Chinese Eastern Railway, it is learned that at a recent conference of the parties concerned it was decided to advance Y2,000,000 this month as the first payment of a total contract for Y20,000,000. The second instalment, amounting to Y3,000,000, is to be paid next month.

The payment of these sums is necessitated by the financial condition of the railway, which will apply the first and second instalments mainly to the payment of wages. The balance of the loan is to be used for purchasing cars, rails and other necessities. It is said that these purchases will be made in Japan. An amount of Y2,300,000, which the South Manchuria Railway Company is to receive from the Chinese Eastern Railway in payment for coal, is to come from the balance of the loan.

Other terms of the loan include the adoption by the C. E. R. of a freight rate to be agreed upon with the South Manchuria Railway, and the reduction of freight rates between Changchun and Harbin to the same level with those on the rest of the line.

SHANGHAI BOLSHEVIKI FEARED IN NIPPON

Tokio, June 7.—The sudden arrival of Mr. Ikeda, Chief of the Foreign Affairs Section of the Metropolitan Police, in Moji and the vigilant watch over vessels arriving in the port are reported in the Yomiuri as indications of the activity of Japanese police for the arrest of Bolshevist advocates who are in Japan for the propagation of Soviet ideas and the instigation of labor agitation.

Rumors are rampant in Moji that an ambitious scheme of undermining Japan in the Far East has been planned by a certain foreign country, which, in conjunction with the Soviet Government of Russia, is pushing the plan to convert the Japanese laborers into Reds, first by inciting malcontent Koreans in Harbin and secondly by dispatching radical Chinese in Shanghai to Japan.

A considerable sum of money is said to have already been advanced by the Government of that specific country and charges are made that a business firm in Yokohama is connected with the plan. Some of the Japanese who are connected with the scheme were arrested in Tokio, Wakamatsu and Shimonoseki.

FIRST RUMANIAN MINISTER ARRIVES AT TOKIO POST

Tokio, June 7.—The first Rumanian diplomatic representative ever sent to Tokio arrived at Yokohama yesterday afternoon.

Mr. E. Jassy Mavrocordato, carrying credentials to identify him as Rumanian Minister to Tokio, will open his country's first legation in Japan's capital city. Mr. Mavrocordato is alone, but he expects the first secretary of the legation, Mr. de Fay, and the military attache, Colonel Ayesham, to come to Japan soon. His family will come to Tokio some months later. Mr. Mavrocordato, who is a vigorous appearing middle aged man, has been in the diplomatic service for many years. He has served in Belgrade, the Hague and Vienna but has not held a post outside of Europe.

Texaco Steam Cylinder Lubricants
plus Texaco Service

Many engineers have found that their steam cylinder lubrication problems can be made less difficult by using Texaco Steam Cylinder Lubricants plus Texaco Service.

Texaco Steam Cylinder Lubricants are a highly specialized group of oils of the high Quality S andard associated the World over with Petroleum Products bearing the Texaco Trademark.

There is one oil in this group that will exact'y meet the requirements of your engine, and Texaco Service will help you find out which oil this is. Tell us about the type of your engine, temperature, quality of steam, kind of service, point of introduction, etc. We shall gladly prescribe the Right Texaco Lubricant for your needs.

The Right Oil in the Right Place—that is the key to satisfactory steam cylinder lubrication. We have the oils and can show you how to use them.
